FATAL FIGHT

Indiana National Guard Ordered to Terre Haute Area, Where One Man Has Been Killed and Eight Shot in Clash.

60 COAL DIGGERS
ARE SURROUNDED

Among Them Are Four Wounded Who Are Prevented by Union Pickets From Getting Treatment—Peace Move Made.

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 3.—Gov. Harry G. Leslie today ordered Indiana National Guard troops into Vigo County where union pickets have besieged 60 nonunion miners in the Dixie Bee shaft.

The Governor said he had ordered troops into the mine field because the situation "has gotten beyond the control of anyone but the State."

"I cannot permit this guerrilla warfare to continue in our State," said the Governor.

A force of 1000 will be ordered to the mine field by Adjutant-General Paul E. Tompkins today.

The Governor left to the determination of National Guard officers the extent of the area to be placed under military control. Six airplanes of the 113th Observation Squadron were included in the contingent ordered to the mine area.

Continuous Sniping by Both Sides on Second Day of Siege.

By the Associated Press.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 3.—The siege of the Dixie Bee mine in Vigo County was continued today with desultory firing.

Sixty nonunion workmen and a group of union pickets, who hemmed them in exchanged fire at daybreak and then the attackers and defenders settled down to cautious sniping.

The siege began late yesterday. A picket has been killed and four wounded. Four defenders of the mine have been wounded. The latter are still at the shaft without medical attention. Pickets last night turned back ambulances sent to bring out the wounded miners.

An airplane reconnaissance of the Dixie Bee shaft made this morning by Orville Lancaster, secretary-treasurer of the corporation operating the shaft, disclosed the mine buildings were still intact. The pickets have prevented any outsiders from approaching the shaft.

Six Hours of Firing.

The nine casualties resulted from more than six hours of almost continuous firing after the first violence broke out late in the afternoon. Taylor Keller, 24 years old, of Evans, Ind., shot in the head, died in an ambulance en route to a Sullivan (Ind.) hospital.

Grant Swann, 22, Jasonville, Ind., is in a hospital here, a bullet wound in the leg. Other wounded were treated by a Farmersburg physician.

Prosecutor Charles C. Whitlock, who visited the mine with Sheriff Dreher, said the four wounded there were placed in the fan house of the mine. One was shot in the side, another in the leg. Whitlock and the Sheriff said shots were fired at them before they left the mine property.

Whitlock said there was one woman at the mine. He thought she was the wife of the barn boss.

Unconfirmed reports about the picket line were that three mine guards had been killed, but none could say he had seen the bodies.

Some of the pickets, however, said they were picked off the tipple by sharpshooters.

Officers of the Dixie Bee Co. made a peace move early today, authorizing Ralph Butler, mine superintendent, to attempt to make an agreement with the picketing force to permit the workmen to leave. They admitted slight hope of success, however.

NEY, BROGAN, ARNER RENAMED R STATE SENATE
umbent for 20 Years in 1st District Overwhelms "Lawyer" Daley in Democratic Race.
Kinney, Joseph H. Brogan, Frank B. Warner incumbents in three State senatorial districts in St. Louis who sought re-election yesterday, were successful on the basis of incomplete returns.
Kinney, Democrat, who has represented the Thirty-first District in Senate for 20 years, soundly defeated "Lawyer" Daley, old-time Democratic power in the downtown wards, who emerged from retirement for this contest. Returns from 31 of the 37 precincts gave Kinney 372 votes to 226 for Daley. E. Chatman, a building contractor, apparently gained the Republican nomination in that district over Sigmund L. Bass, attorney. In the same number of precincts Chatman had 1486 votes and Bass 1049.
Brogan, Democrat, who has represented the Thirty-third District in Senate for 20 years, once more repelled the challenge of Edward J. Hogan, better known as "Jelly Roll", and one-time leader of the Hogan gang in battles with the Eganites. Returns from 25 of 65 precincts gave Brogan 2191 votes to Hogan's 1000. Jacob Shucart was unopposed in the Republican nomination in that district.
Warner, who has represented the twenty-ninth District for 20 years, recently gained the Republican nomination over John T. Manning, former State Representative. Nine precincts of the 134 in that district gave Warner 2341 votes to Manning's 2354.
The Democratic nomination in the Twenty-ninth District seemed assured for William J. Boran. Twenty precincts gave him 2902 votes to 202 for Louis C. Baraglia, who has been a candidate for the lower house several times.

HOW PENDERGAST MADE HIS SWEEP IN KANSAS CITY
Democratic Boss Set Out to Give Wilson at Least 75,000 Plurality, but Made It 90,000.
WELL ABOVE THE LOWER MARK
Force of 10,000 Workers Toiled From Opening to Closing of Polls to Get Out Vote.
In the 541 precincts in Kansas City and Jackson County the candidates endorsed by Pendergast were far ahead of those backing that indorsement.
The organization plan was to give Francis M. Wilson for Governor a plurality of at least 75,000 votes and to keep Charles M. Wilson for United States Senator as near that figure as possible.
The tabulation for the 457 precincts in Kansas City and 48 in rural Jackson County made the Wilson plurality more than 90,000 and that of Howell more than 75,000.
10,000 Workers Busy
From the opening of the polls to the closing of the polls, the cry of the organization leaders was to the 10,000 workers was to get out that vote. And the enormous majorities now piling up showed that the rank and file of the Democratic organization did not mean a candidate for the lower house several times.

Tabulation of 540 city precincts out of 689, at 12:45 p. m., showed the total vote for these precincts for all Republican candidates for Governor to be 30,137, and the total vote for all Democratic candidates for Governor to be 69,021. MISSING GIRL, 17, FOUND BURIED IN CELLAR OF HOUSE Body Dug Up at Village Near Ludington, Mich. Part of Her Clothing Is Torn Off.
By the Associated Press.
LUDINGTON, Mich., Aug. 3.—The body of 17-year-old Evelyn Sanford, who disappeared last Saturday, was found buried in the basement of a vacant house in the rear of the home of Francis Nash in Free Soil today. Nash was taken into custody for questioning yesterday.
The body was found by Corp. Colburn Mungler of the State Police and Harold Pfeiffer, 20, Manistee, one of the numerous volunteers who have been aiding in the search for the girl.
A space at the bottom of outside stairs leading to the basement led directly to the discovery. The girl's body had been buried in about 18 inches of sand. Part of her clothing had been torn off.
Corporal Mungler of Mason County reported that the girl apparently had been assaulted and strangled.
The grave was about six feet deep and barely wide enough to receive the body. A gunny sack had been placed over the girl's head and a cord was tied around her face and mouth, as if it had been used to hold a gag in place. The belt from her coat was around the neck. The body was buried head first and covered with a few inches of sand.
Nash was arrested because of scratches on his face and because, State police said, he seemed to take little interest in the girl's disappearance and the search for her. He told officers during questioning last night that his face was scratched by flying chips as he was chopping wood and later said it was rubbed by branches of a tree. Today one of his still unwashed police said, broke down and admitted he had told a story dictated by Nash. The suspect, who is about 32 years old, is a bachelor and lives alone.
Organization Support. Supporters of Deamont, Cape Girardeau candidate, hoped yesterday that the large vote cast in the city would be decisively favorable to him, as giving independent voters a chance to override the machine vote.
Wilson was Democratic nominee for Governor in 1928, being defeated in the election by Gov. Caulfield.
No Confusion on Harris.
Frank G. Harris, who led for Lieutenant-Governor in the St. Louis Democratic vote, is a former State Senator who had no previous political record, was running merely to divide the support of the Columbia candidate.
Fitzsimmons, recently a St. Louis Circuit Judge and now a Supreme Court commissioner, proved a strong candidate for home here in the Supreme Court race. His indorsement of the State Bar Association was expected to help him in the State-wide vote.
Phillips, a former State Senator and former chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Commission, had a marked advantage over Judge Albert D. Norton, for the Republican Supreme Court nomination for Division 1 of the court. Judge Norton, who had the State Bar Association indorsement, was expected to show gains in the State vote. He was a leader of the Roosevelt Progressive (Bull Moose) movement in 1912, and was Progressive candidate for Governor of Missouri.
For the Democratic nomination for Attorney-General, Calvin, an attorney of Washington, Franklin County, who had the indorsement of anti-prohibition organizations, was running second in the city. McKittick of Salisbury being ahead.
Charles H. Dancer, former City Counselor of St. Louis and Lieutenant of Kiel during his administrations as Mayor, obtained the Republican nomination for the St. Louis Court of Appeals without opposition. He resides in Clayton. The Court of Appeals district includes 23 counties in Eastern Missouri.
McCullen, who is noticeably behind Kane in the incomplete city figures, has the indorsement of the State Bar Association.

VETERANS TO QUIT JOHNSTOWN, PA., CAMP TOMORROW
Evacuation Announcement Follows Visit to Colony by Mayor, Who Promises Transportation.
By the Associated Press.
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—Mayor McCloskey of Johnstown and leaders of the bonus expedition visited the veterans' camp today to tell them they must move on. Deak Carter, the veterans' chief of staff, told the veterans he had resigned.
Leaders in the bonus camp announced that the veterans would evacuate their camp about noon tomorrow. The announcement said Government tents brought from Washington would be returned "with thanks."
It was a sorry gathering of men encamped near here who heard Mayor McCloskey and their leaders say that they no longer can expect shelter on the ground the Mayor provided for them after their flight from Washington. Their commander, Walter M. Waters, was represented by Eddie Atwell, who came here this morning from Washington.
As the Mayor spoke, a man in the crowd cried: "Are we going to break up and go home?" The crowd yelled, "No!"
Arranges Transportation.
McCloskey pleaded with the crowd: "I ask you to stick to Waters."
There was a shout of "we will." The Mayor said he was arranging with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for transportation of any of the veterans to their homes. The crowd cheered wildly.
McCloskey praised Waters as "a great leader" and denounced Carter, who he said, "sits around the hotel with his boots on."
Going Home Peacefully.
"We are going to go home peacefully," said the Mayor. "If you want to fight, come to me. I'll be right in the middle of it."
"Every man is going to leave here with food and with passenger transportation. All you have to do is show your discharge and B. E. F. card."
Referring again to Carter, McCloskey said: "We'll put Carter to work cleaning up after the men leave."
He told them Gov. Pinchot is with them, "heart and soul."
In his resignation, addressed to Commander Waters, Carter said: "Inasmuch as I cannot support your policy of sending the members of the B. E. F. back to their respective states, I offer herewith my resignation as Chief of Staff and ask that it be accepted immediately."
Atwell took the speaker's platform to ask the veterans to go home. "You can do better in your home states," Atwell said. "Concentration would be an imposition on any state or community. We are still working on a haven for you."
Dispatches from Washington early today quoted Waters as advising members of the B. E. F. return to their home states to form organizations there. Earlier the commander was reported to have said he was not to be convinced the proposed camp near Laurel, Md., was not advisable because of sanitary conditions and that the army should disband until definite plans were laid for the future.

Trees and Flowers Saved By Rains of Last Few Days
Boring Tests at Shaw's Garden Previously Showed No Moisture at Depth of 12 1-2 Feet.
Not only lawns and seasonal flowers, but even trees were saved from imminent danger by the long-delayed rains of the last few days. Shaw's Garden experts said today. Ten days ago there was no theoretical justification for a tree to live in St. Louis. Test borings showed no moisture to a depth of 12 1/2 feet. Not since spring had there been moisture more than a few inches below the soil surface. Leaves were falling as in autumn. The garden used thousands of gallons of spray for red spider, a tree destructive pest that thrives in dry weather, and was attempting to save valuable trees by artificial watering—a process that required, to reach the roots of a large maple, for example, seven days and nights of uninterrupted sprinkling and 5200 gallons of water. Bluegrass and bent grass were withering, despite nightly watering of the bent grass. Nothing thrived except tropical plants, lilies and foliage plants, verbena and the old St. Louis stand-by, petunias.
A horse chestnut tree on the knoll south of the main entrance is showing full bloom in branches on the south side which were completely defoliated. Redbud trees, bonus army ever served under the American flag.
The letter from the President read: "I would be glad if the veterans throughout the country could know the character of the men claiming to be their representatives who have been in Washington since the adjournment of Congress. It is the impression of our Government services that less than half of them ever served under the American flag."
The letter was in response to a telegram sent the President by the post commanding him for preserving order during the recent disturbance at Washington.
Of 60 men who passed through St. Louis yesterday after having been evicted from Washington by police, only four were World War veterans, they told reporters, and a number said they "just went to Washington because the veterans were there and we wanted to get what we could get, too." Others insisted they had nothing to do with the disturbance in Washington, had been employed there for as long as 18 years, and had been evicted, "just because we didn't have clean shirts."
Driven From Washington, Dies of Pneumonia.
By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 3.—William Gunn, 40 years old, one of the bonus marchers driven by Federal troops from Washington last week, died in the Marine Hospital here today.
In seeking treatment on his arrival in Baltimore, Saturday, he told physicians at the Mercy Hospital, where he first went, he had been injured and gassed in the fighting at Washington. He was found to be suffering from tuberculosis and was sent to the Marine Hospital. Dr. Richard H. Creel, medical officer in charge of the Marine Hospital, said today he had been unable to verify Gunn's statement that his ribs were fractured when struck by a brick. Dr. Creel expressed the opinion Gunn died from natural causes. He said Gunn contracted pneumonia. A sister, Mary Pablist, Harris, Mich., was notified of his death.

CHRIST IN MODERN DRESS IN PAINTING
Mural Done by Woman for Church Depicts Him as Cape Cod Fisherman.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A mural painting depicting a beardless Jesus of Nazareth in modern Cape Cod fisherman garb, preaching to residents of the fishing village of Chatham, Mass., will be unveiled Saturday in the old Congregational Church of that town.
The painting, in three panels measuring 9x20 feet over all and intended to hang in the vestibule of the church, is the work of Alice Stallknecht.
Jesus, rarely depicted in modern setting and probably never before in modern dress, is seen in the stern of a fisherman's boat, his hands held aloft, his clothes consisting of a woolen shirt and trousers secured by a belt. His face, a realistic composite of Chatham villagers, is that of a young man of about 35.
Descends Rowing Boat.
In the boat behind the figure of Christ are two deacons of the Chatham Congregational Church, fishermen of the village. Each manipulates an oar. To the left, in rapid attention, stands Deacon L. Sidney Atwood, Chatham's grocer. Next to him is Augustus Pierce, insurance agent, and in front of Pierce, Mrs. Emma Howe, restaurant proprietor. On the same panel are the town's electrician, an auto dealer, a landscape gardener, a carpenter and builder, and wives and children of others. High in the corner is shown a lighthouse.
The panel to the right has a row of widows who belong to the church, and behind them the young women and young men of the congregation. In all there are 27 townspeople shown—a representative of each family in the village.
Painting Only a Year.
The painting is in modern, bold style suggestive of Van Gogh. How it will be received by persons other than the congregation of the old Congregational Church is a matter of speculation. A picture showing Christ in modern London, but in traditional garb, was turned down by the Hanging Committee of the Royal Academy last year, and finally sold to an American. Mark Symons was the artist.
Miss Stallknecht is the wife of Dr. Karl Van Buren Wright, retired professor of the University of Pennsylvania, and mother of Frederick Wright, artist. She began painting only a year ago at the instance of her son.
Chatham was settled in 1679. The old Congregational Church was organized in 1696. The present church, a little frame building, was erected in 1720 from tiles required by law.

'HANK' WEEKE ARRESTED IN ROW AT POLLING PLACE

Cause of Dispute With Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickerhoff Not Explained—Peace Charges Filed.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE
CANDIDATE BOOKED

He, Italian Gangster and Two Others Listed as "Suspected of Attempting to Intimidate Voters."

"Hank" Weeke, veteran Republican leader in the Eighteenth Ward, was among several arrested yesterday in election day disturbances.

Weeke, who is 73 years old, became involved in an altercation with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickerhoff, 2309 Dodder street, near a polling place at Twenty-third street and Sullivan avenue. A policeman intervened, and the disputants were booked on charges of peace disturbances, to appear in Police Court No. 2 Aug. 17. The cause of the disturbance was not made clear to police.

William Batavia, candidate for Republican Committeeman from the Fifth Ward; Sora Mantia, an Italian gangster, and two other men were arrested and booked "suspected of attempting to intimidate voters."

The arrests were made on complaint of an Alderman who reported that Mantia and the two other men were riding through the ward in Batavia's automobile making threatening remarks to voters thought to be supporting Batavia's opponent, Fred Weisenman.

Walter C. Schoenbeck, a deputy recorder of deeds and candidate for the Republican City Committee from the Third Ward, was booked on a charge of a suit following a fight with Joseph L. Komorford, a challenger in a polling place at 1910 Madison street.

Komerford reported that Schoenbeck demanded information on the number of ballots cast. When the request was refused, Schoenbeck became enraged, it is alleged, and struck Komerford repeatedly. Schoenbeck declared that he was shoved out of the polling place and struck Komerford in self-defense.

Benjamin Barnett, a mechanic, 3045A Easton avenue, was booked on a charge of interfering with the balloting after he is reported to have torn up a ballot that was being marked by a woman in a polling place at 2222 Bell avenue.

When the judges and clerks for Precinct 1, Twelfth Ward, became involved in a dispute over the count last night, policemen took them and the ballot box to the Board of Election Commissioners' headquarters, where the differences were adjusted.

John Feld, Democratic clerk assigned to a Sixth Ward polling place at 2639 Chouteau avenue, was charged with being intoxicated at the polls after City Hospital physicians pronounced him "drunk" yesterday afternoon, police report.

Patrolman John King, stationed at a Twenty-sixth Ward balloting place at 5558 Easton avenue, had to use force to subdue a man who insisted on voting after the polls were closed last night.

The man, who was pronounced suffering from alcoholism and lacerations at City Hospital, gave his name as John Olsen, of 1449 Arlington avenue. He was booked on charges of peace disturbance and resisting arrest.

MRS. KEITH-MILLER ON STAND AGAINST

Lancaster were held?" Hawthorne asked.

She hesitated.

"It sounds radical but I did say that," she answered.

Another witness, Policeman Earl Hudson, quoted Mrs. Lancaster as saying on one occasion that Clarke had contracted a disease and it was weighing heavily on his mind. The officer recalled Lancaster insisted that Clarke committed suicide and suggested the disease might have led him to it.

Attorney Tells About Pistol.

E. H. Huston, Miami attorney, testified that Lancaster tried to persuade him to say he owned a revolver found under the body of Clarke, friend of Mrs. Keith-Miller, who was shot at her home last April 21.

Huston was the first witness of the day in the prosecution's attempt to prove Lancaster killed the youth because of jealousy over the affections of Mrs. Keith-Miller, a native of Australia, who has engaged in numerous flying adventures with the Captain.

The witness said Lancaster called him to Mrs. Keith-Miller's home about 9 a. m. April 21, advising him of the shooting. He said Lancaster gave him two notes with the explanation Clarke wrote them before he was found fatally wounded in a room he shared with the flyer.

They were couched in terms of despondency and mentioned contemplation of suicide. Huston said Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller suggested destroying them but he dissuaded them.

These were the notes Lancaster later admitted he forged with hopes of removing any suspicion that might be cast at Mrs. Keith-Miller.

After he refused to claim ownership of the pistol, Huston said Lancaster begged him to say it belonged to the Latin-American Airways, a company in which Huston was interested and with which Lancaster had dealt in regard to a proposal for commercial flying between Mexico and the United States. Again he refused, Huston told the court.

Under cross-examination by James Carson, chief of defense counsel, Huston testified Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller talked to him at various times about the Captain's desire to divorce his wife.

polled from the 126 precincts, indications were that the total vote would be over 45,000, the heaviest in the history of the county. Previous primary votes have never exceeded 31,000.

The returns showed an exceptionally large Democratic vote, indicating that the many Republicans voted the Democratic ticket. Normally the county is strongly Republican.

Castlen, running on his record in two two-year terms as Prosecuting Attorney, was leading his ticket with 18,415 votes. Herbert E. Bryant, a former assistant in Castlen's office, had 4013 votes and James J. McLaughlin, 2839.

The race for the Republican nomination for Assessor, with three strong candidates, was expected to be one of the most closely contested but Hergel, the incumbent, seeking his fourth four-year term, was swamping his opponents with 10,491 votes against 6519 for former Sheriff Albert A. Wilmas and 5221 for Sheriff Lill.

Louis H. Bopp, Kirkwood undertaker and former Coroner and Sheriff, was running far ahead of two physicians for nomination for Coroner. Bopp's opposition during the campaign by other undertakers and many physicians. Bopp polled 14,149 votes. Dr. John H. Sutter, 8602 and Dr. Rolla Bracy 3031.

THREE REPORTED DROWNED IN COLLISION OF SHIPS

Schooner, Off Mouth of Potomac River, Halls Under Keel

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 2.—Three members of the crew of the Milton S. Lankford, a small schooner, are thought to have been drowned after a collision with the old Bay liner, State of Maryland. Four others of the crew of seven were rescued.

The crash occurred around midnight off the mouth of the Potomac River. The schooner was rolled under the larger vessel's keel and smashed into wreckage. It was raining and a heavy sea was running.

The State of Maryland, slightly damaged, reached here today. The schooner was loaded with 3500 watermelons. Its home port was Elizabeth City, N. C.

Skipper E. W. Midgette, in command of the schooner, was among those rescued. His father, R. N. Midgette, 49 years old, is missing. Two of those rescued were picked up by the State of Maryland. The other two were found by the Chesapeake Bay liner, City of Baltimore.

883 MEN PLACED AT WORK
BY CITIZENS' BUREAU IN JULY

Jobs were obtained for 883 men last month by the Citizens' Free Employment Bureau, 1806 Washington avenue, according to the report of Leo McCarthy, director of the bureau.

Permanent jobs represent 42.3 per cent of the work, it stated. Employers who had called on the bureau before gave 49 per cent of the jobs, as compared with 30 per cent in June.

Placements showed an increase, McCarthy said, while applications decreased slightly. Registration last month totaled 11,414, as compared with 12,896 in June.

Out of a daily average of 456 persons who sought work last month about 35 were given employment. The daily average last week of those given jobs was 41, an increase in the daily average for the month.

Says Michigan Is for Roosevelt.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Gov. Roosevelt's luncheon visitor today was Patrick H. O'Brien, Democratic candidate for the nomination for Governor of Michigan. O'Brien, who is spending a vacation at Port Henry, said he told the Governor that Michigan was not a doubtful State but was Democratic this year.

"If all the other states feel as does Michigan, Roosevelt is the next President," said O'Brien. "There is a great swing away from the Republican party this year."

Suicide Verdict Returned.

A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today in the death of William B. Rowbottom, 58-year-old unemployed laborer, who took poison yesterday at his home, 3740 Ohio avenue.

STATEMENT BY HURLEY ON WASHINGTON RIOT

War Secretary Reviews Situation Leading to the Calling of Troops.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Secretary of War Hurley today issued a statement reviewing the developments which led to the calling of the bonus marchers from Washington, asserting he believed such a statement was necessary because of the "apparently deliberate propaganda and misrepresentations that are being circulated."

Hurley related the series of incidents dating from the arrival of the men in Washington and concluded with a denial that women and children were evacuated by troops or that there had been any undue violence in the removal of the bonus marchers from the various camps they had set up here.

"No one was injured after the coming of the troops," he said. "No property was destroyed after the coming of the troops except the property of the marchers themselves. The duty of restoring law and order was performed with directness, with effectiveness, and with unparalleled humanity and kindness."

Hurley said no one had yet given a satisfactory reason why the marchers remained in Washington after Congress adjourned.

"There was no reason for the continuance of these marchers in Washington except to carry out the orders of propagandists and radicals to harass, obstruct, intimidate and coerce the officials of the Government," he said.

"Through panhandling they forced tribute from the citizens in the vicinity of their camps," he said. "More than 600 of those remaining were receiving compensation through the Veterans' Bureau. They also received much assistance in food and money from organizations outside of the District of Columbia."

"They created fear in the citizens who did not immediately comply with their demands. All of this was tolerated until they challenged the authority of the civil government, brought about disorder, bloodshed and death."

"Under the circumstances but two courses were left open to the President. One was to acquiesce in the violence and surrender the Government to the mob. The other was to uphold law and order and protect the lives of the people and suppress the mob."

"The course that Americans have always pursued when the authority of their Government is challenged by a mob was followed by the President in this instance."

GAIN IN INTERNAL REVENUE

Aug. 1 Payments $2,631,000; First Return Under New Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The effect of the new billion dollar tax bill was reflected for the first time today in the Treasury statement for Aug. 1, which showed miscellaneous internal revenue reported that day amounted to $2,631,125, as compared with $1,189,560 for the same period last year.

Miscellaneous internal revenue, under which the new taxes will be levied, declined steadily in July as compared with last year. This was brought about because the first payment of tax under the new revenue act, that for the last nine days of June, was not due to be paid over to collectors of internal revenue until the end of July. While the amount for those nine days is not expected to be large, it will bring a gradual increase in the Government income and cut down the $265,807,533 deficit which faced the Treasury at the end of the first month of the 1932 (the present) fiscal year.

SUIT TO SET ASIDE HUGH CAMPBELL'S $1,100,000 WILL

Two Young Men Say They Were to Be Heirs and Ask to Be Declared the Adopted Sons.

Harry and Adolph Furman, young men to whom was bequeathed the income from $15,000 apiece by the late Hugh Campbell, wealthy bachelor who died last Aug. 9, in his home, 1308 Locust street, filed suit in Circuit Court today to set aside the Campbell will and to have themselves declared Campbell's adopted sons.

Two actions were filed, one asking the court to declare an adoption of the young men and the other asking that the will be set aside on the ground that the late Hugh Campbell was "unduly influenced" to leave the bulk of his estate, estimated at $1,100,000, to Yale University.

Under the terms of the will the Furmans would each receive the income from $15,000 until the age of 25, when the principal would revert to the estate. Adolph is now 26 and Harry 25. Both are well-known swimmers and ice skaters and both have been employed as swimming pool lifeguards.

The Furman boys met Campbell 13 years ago, when they lived next door to his home on Locust street and he attempted to persuade them that they ought not to play in the street. It was shortly after that they alleged, that he told their mother, who is now dead, that he had no children of his own, and if she would permit the boys to visit him, he would provide for them as his own children and at his death they would be his heirs.

Thereupon, the suit alleges, the plaintiffs "visited at his home every day, had meals with him, and were present when he held them out to others as his sons."

The will, they complain, "practically disinherited" them, although Campbell had assured them they would want for nothing as long as they lived.

The contest suit sets forth that Harry and Adolph Furman are the legal heirs of Campbell, citing the alleged agreement with their mother in 1912, and asserts that Orrick and the trust company, "conspired to defraud and deprive these plaintiffs of their rightful share of the estate."

The trustees did this, according to the petition, by exerting "a powerful influence" over Campbell and keeping him from carrying out the agreement to adopt Adolph and Harry.

Denies There Was Agreement.

Orrick told the Post-Dispatch that although he had seen the boys at Campbell's home, there never had been any agreement to adopt them so far as he knew and that there never had been any discussion of adoption in his presence.

"So far as the influence is concerned," he continued, "I was in France when this will was drawn. I do remember, however, that Mr. Campbell tried to send one of the boys to college, but the boy wouldn't go."

Specific bequests under the Campbell will total $63,500. The income is to go to Hazellet Campbell, a brother, who is an invalid, and a ward of the Probate Court, until his death, whereupon all but the specific bequests will go to Yale University, by terms of the will, to be used for construction of a building as a memorial to another brother, James Alexander Campbell, who was graduated from Yale in 1883 and died in 1890.

Hugh Campbell resigned in 1926 as executor of the estate of Hazellet, valued then at $1,400,000. Hugh Campbell was 83 when he died.

Loan Firm Receivership Ends.

In the winding up of the receivership of the Provident Loan and Investment Institution, Circuit Judge Hall, who discharged the receiver and ordered that the assets be turned over to new liquidating company, approved only $5906 of a total of $23,750 fees allowed to the receiver and attorneys in the case. The balance was approved by Judges Hogan and Hartmann during the period of the receivership, which began in March, 1930.

Luncheon for 50-Year Worker.

A luncheon in honor of James A. Carroll, manager of the catalogue and printing departments of the Standard Hardware Co., on his completion of 50 years of hard-ware advertising, was held yesterday at Hotel Statler by the Advertising Club. Carroll started with the company as messenger boy. Speakers at the luncheon included Charles E. Williams, E. H. Reynolds, Phil Brockman and A. W. Douglas.

Circuit Attorney Miller, Democrat, and Judge J. Ray Weinberger, Republican, are the nominees of their respective parties for Circuit Attorney. Neither was opposed.

Bar Association Got 7 of 9.

The voters nominated seven of the nine candidates for judicial offices recommended by the St. Louis Bar Association in a recent referendum among its membership. The bar slate approved former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm for a Republican nomination for Circuit Judge. The race for this office centered on a contest between Judge Rutledge—who failed of indorsement by the association but obtained the support of 252 lawyers—and Grimm. Judge Rutledge was aided particularly by general support of the Republican machine, which slated him along with Judges Kilborn and Rosakopf.

Bond, who was a Circuit Judge for a short time by appointment, 14 years ago, was endorsed in the bar referendum. Some Democrats objected to his candidacy because his actual residence is in University City, although he maintains a legal residence at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. He was endorsed by Judges Kilborn, Rosakopf and Foster on the Republican ticket and Williams, O'Malley, Kirkwood and Dickmann on the Democratic.

The count of election returns, which is arranged by the newspaper, was conducted this year for the first time in the basement of the new Election Board Building, instead of in the City Hall rotunda. Bulletins on results in the contests for United States Senator, Governor and Sheriff were relayed to City Hall by telephone during the night. However, only a changing gathering of a few hundred people heard them there, as KSD, the Post-Dispatch radio station, broadcast early returns. In former years City Hall was a noisy, colorful scene, as large crowds gathered about the halls to learn the returns. The confusion formerly annoyed the tabulators, but this time, with much more tedious work than usual, they worked in privacy.

CONFERENCE ON INCREASING RAIL AND OTHER EMPLOYMENT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A three-point plan for increasing employment on the railroads and for leading work to other industries through the carriers, is being formulated for submission to railroad executives.

Conferences began yesterday by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation directors, the finance division of the Interstate Commerce Commission and a committee of railroad executives continued today for three hours on the problems of financing a campaign for increased employment. The conference dealt with increasing work through repair of cars and locomotives, maintenance of tracks and structures of the carriers and purchase of new equipment by those roads needing it.

Chairman Fomereau of the Finance Corporation said that satisfactory progress was being made.

DISORDER AT JOBLESS MEETING

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A mass meeting at Town Hall to discuss unemployment relief and the bonus army's eviction broke up in disorder last night when Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, chairman, adjourning it before everybody who wanted to speak had his say.
When the Bishop's gavel fell six speakers rushed to the rostrum and started talking at once, and a chorus sang the "Internationale" at the same time.

The meeting called by the joint committee on unemployment, adopted resolutions demanding im-

CLARK GETS MORE VOTES THAN KIEL
IN ST. CHARLES CO.

Democrat Polls 2454 to Re-publican's 2197—Bruere
Renamed for Prosecuting Attorney.

Bennett Champ Clark polled 2454 votes in St. Charles County in the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, against 2197 for Charles M. Hay, Clark's nearest opponent.

On returns from 35 of 38 precincts in the county, Clark received more votes than Henry W. Kiel, the leading Republican candidate, although St. Charles County is normally a Republican stronghold.
Kiel's vote for 35 precincts is 2197.
The Democratic candidate's platform for repeat an immediate modification of the eighteenth amendment, and the fact that St.
Charles County is in the old Ninth District, which the candidate's father, the late Champ Clark, represented in Congress, were factors in Clark's popularity at the polls.

In the race for nomination for Governor the three Republican candidates were separated by but a few votes. On returns from 35 precincts the results were as follows: Becker, 584; Koehler, 544; Winter, 543. On the Democratic side Russell Lee Dearmont received 1194 votes and Francis M.
Wilson 1062, with three precincts to be heard from.

James J. Barrett Ahead.
In the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, James J.
Barrett, with 906, had a comfortable lead over David P. Jones, 598, in 32 precincts. For the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, Frank G. Harris led with 720 votes, and Floyd Sperry was next with 528.

For Secretary of State, L. D.
Thompson was the leading Republican candidate with 1592. William T. Findley received 1137 votes. On the Democratic ticket James T.
O'Brien led a field of five with 816, the runner-up being D. H.
Brown, 460.

Other returns on the Republican State ticket were: State Auditor—
George E. Hackmann, 1750; H. A.
Perriguet, 578; Larry Brunk, 395.
State Treasurer—A. H. Steinbecker, 1467; Herman Lufcy, 1254. Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No.
1—Alroy S. Phillips, 2030; Albert
D. Norton, 788.

Returns on the Democratic contests for other State offices follow:
For Attorney-General—G. B.
Clavin, 872; Roy McKittrick, 539.
Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No. 1—Allen W. Walker, 698; C. T. Hays, 599. Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No. 2
—John T. Fitzsimmons, 1192; C. A.
Burney, 690; C. L. Henson, 671. For Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals—Joseph Kane, 1004; E. J.
McCullen, 586.

Bruere and Dierker Win.
On the Republican ticket, incumbents led in the race for several local offices. Prosecuting Attorney Theodore C. Bruere Jr. won the nomination over his only opponent, Osmund Haensler, by a vote of 2048 to 1327, with four of the 38 county precincts unreported.

George V. Dierker, appointed County Assessor last fall to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John L. Lewis, was nominated over E. J. Kamphoefner, 2031 to 1265.

County Surveyor Alfred Risko was renominated, polling 1542 votes, against 994 for W. G. Van-cleva, a former County Surveyor, and 225 for Fred Jacobson.

Public Administrator W. J. P.
Hafer was unopposed for nomination to succeed himself, polling 3428 ballots in 34 precincts.

In the race for Sheriff, Lester Plackmeyer, deputy under Sheriff Grothe, won over four opponents, polling 1213 votes. His man, unopposed for the nomination to succeed himself, polled 3323 votes in 34 precincts. Judge Henry F. Ohlms of the County Court, also unopposed, received 2412 votes.

The race for nomination for Constable went to R. P. Norden, with 770, defeating J. J. Olandorf, 702, and Ray Prinster, 654 votes.

Democrats, who usually nominate candidates for local offices by convention in St. Charles County, cast 757 votes for Patrolman Charles Phelps, their selection for Sheriff.
Joseph Reeves polled 629 and F.
W. Rose received 96 votes.

For Democratic nominee for Coroner, Dr. Will L. Freeman received 843 votes, against 520 for Dr. Calvin Clay.

opposition in the nomination for Judge of the County Court, Eastern District.

a former policeman, was the Democratic selection with 384 votes. His

PAVILION IN THEATER FIRE Increases Sound So Audience in Historic Montreal House Does Not Hear Fire Apparatus.
By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 2.—The old Theater Francaise was destroyed yesterday by fire from which a motion picture audience of 300 escaped.

A sound apparatus engineer averted a panic by increasing the volume of the talkies so that the audience could not hear fire apparatus arriving outside.

Nearly 20 firemen were overcome by smoke, requiring medical attention. Three firemen and a district chief required hospital treatment.

Fire broke out in the back of the theater. L. C. Kniffen, the engineer, who was inspecting the equipment, increased the sound from the talkie apparatus.

The manager, two ushers and two passersby from the street led the audience to safety as the arriving firemen went to work. It was a three-alarm fire and tied up traffic for blocks around.

The Theater Francaise once had one of the largest stages of the world's legitimate theaters.

ESKIMOS GET TOOTHACHE FROM WHITE MAN'S FOOD
No Decay Among Natives Who Still Eat Fish and Birds and Such.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Toothaches are increasing among Eskimos of Alaska in proportion to the amount of white man's food they eat.

The Smithsonian Institution said yesterday that, among 25 Eskimos who still live on fish, seal, walrus, birds and whale meat, and seldom see white, not a single case of tooth decay was found by Henry B. Collins, Smithsonian scientist.

At Nome, largest white settlement in Alaska, on the other hand, he found seven out of nine natives had decayed teeth.

Before the advent of the whites, Eskimos had the least amount of tooth decay of any racial group in the world.

RAIN FORCES DIGGING UP OF VETERAN BURIED ALIVE

HANBIBAL, Mo., Aug. 3.—Cleve Salyer, World War veteran who was buried alive Saturday night in a box under seven feet of earth, was dug up yesterday morning as a result of a 3.74-inch rain that fell Sunday night and seeped into his "coffin."

Salyer and his companion, J. H. King of Gladewater, Tex., say the donations they are receiving will be used to enable the bonus seekers to stay in the vicinity of Washington.

They plan to give their burial stunt here again, with Salyer remaining underground eight days.

I. C. C. ABANDONS INVESTIGATION OF FRISCO RAIL DEAL

But Condemns Method by Which Line Obtained Stock of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern.

"EASY MANNER" OF HANDLING TRUST

Declares Important Transaction Was Decided by Few Directors in Casual Conversation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Although condemning the manner in which it said stock was obtained, the Interstate Commerce Commission today discontinued its investigation into purchases of stock of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern Railroad by the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway and of stock of the St. Louis-San Francisco by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific.

The inquiry was instituted by the commission when the annual reports of the carriers last year showed the stock ownership. The Frisco purchased 55,000 shares of common stock of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern through Speyer & Co. of New York. That firm acted on a verbal order from Edward N. Brown, chairman of the board of directors of the Frisco.

The commission did not give a formal decision in the case, merely contenting itself with brief discussion devoted almost entirely to the Gulf, Mobile & Northern transaction.

"This proceeding," the commission said, "shows the easy manner in which the boards of directors of these railroads bore their responsibilities as such. Questions of large financial importance to the properties and to the stockholders to whom they stood in a fiduciary relation were decided by a few members in casual conversations; large sums were expended or obligated on projects which as a board they had not considered and which, on the transactions being reported to them later, they readily ratified."

The Rock Island's purchase of Frisco stock totaled 25,000 shares. It was made on written orders.

Brown, besides being chairman of the board of the Frisco, also was chairman of the Executive Committee of the Rock Island.

FREED OF LYNCHING, 6 MEN ACCUSED OF BREAKING INTO JAIL

Accused of Murder When They Testify Negro Jumped From Boat and Was Drowned.

By the Associated Press.
TRONTON, O., Aug. 3.—Six white men acquitted of murdering Luke Murray, an Atlanta, Ga., Negro, faced new charges in the same case today.

The new charges accused the whites of breaking into the jail at South Point, O., for the purpose of abducting Murray, shortly before his death.

During the murder trial recently, counsel for the accused men admitted they broke into the jail by battering down the door, and that they removed the Negro, but denied killing him. They said he jumped into the Ohio River while they were taking him across in a rowboat.

State witnesses testified Murray's body, recovered later, bore marks of a beating.

The new warrants against the six were sworn to yesterday by O. A. Wright, chairman of the Lincoln Club of Burlington, a Negro organization. Similar warrants also were issued against six other men.

PRIMARY RETURNS BROADCAST UNTIL 3:45 A. M. BY KSD

Announcement Made in Early Morning That Wilson and Kiel Probably Had Been Named.

The primary election returns were broadcast as soon as reported over Station KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, continuously from 9 o'clock last night to 3:45 a. m. today, except between 11 o'clock and midnight, when local station KFUD had the air.

Bulletins from rural districts and the St. Louis precincts were broadcast every few minutes, showing returns for most of the important offices.

By 3:30 a. m. KSD sent out the result of 180 precincts in St. Louis for the important offices and other bulletins indicating that Francis M. Wilson, Democratic candidate for the nomination for Governor, and Henry Kiel, Republican candidate for the nomination for United States Senator, probably had been nominated on the face of returns.

STEINBERG & CO. OFFER ESTIMATED NOT ABOVE 25 PCT.

Creditors' Attorneys After Examining Financial Schedules Think It May Be Even Lower.

The settlement offer to general creditors of the closed brokerage firm of Mark C. Steinberg & Co. is not expected to exceed 25 per cent and may be as low as 10 or 15 per cent in the opinion of creditors' attorneys who have made a preliminary examination of the firm's financial schedules filed in Federal Court Monday.

While the book value of assets as listed in the schedules exceeds liabilities of $2,690,385 by $661,015, the assets upon liquidation would probably realize considerably less for creditors, it is pointed out.

The amount of the offer has not been fixed, however, according to Louis Mayer, attorney for the firm, who said it would depend on the condition of financial markets and related circumstances. The offer is to be made at a meeting of creditors in Bankruptcy Court not less than nine days hence.

Unsecured Creditors Affected.

The settlement offer would affect only general, or unsecured, creditors with scheduled claims totaling $1,189,324. The secured creditors, most of them banks, with scheduled claims of $2,520,528, will probably be paid in full since they hold collateral valued in the schedules at $2,642,421. The financial position of the firm is given in the schedules as of April 28, the day it was placed in State receivership, except that securities are valued at the market price on the following day.

The principal asset consists of securities valued at $3,339,025. After payment in full to secured creditors, however, there would remain an equity in the collateral of $2,062,831 of only $555,236 for general creditors. In addition, the difference between the pledged securities and total listed securities would be available to general creditors.

The detailed schedule of assets, however, states that $98,328 in stocks have been delivered to customers since April 28 under order of Circuit Court and that the firm has $218,500 in stocks on hand.

Other assets which are likely to be available to general creditors at or near the listed values include $31,976 in money, $18,127 in real estate and $28,559 in cash surrender value of insurance policies. Assets which may or may not approximate the listed value include office furniture listed at $70,596, but appraised at $7394; a claim for $27,777 as one of 10 indorsees on a note of The Arena, paid by indorsees upon maturity; accounts receivable of a face value of $735,417.

Accounts Receivable. In the accounts receivable is $668,139 claimed to be due from customers after deducting the value of securities held by the firm as collateral.

In this classification are listed the following accounts of $10,000 or more: Louis M. Steinberg, brother of Mark Steinberg, $188,804; Mrs. Mark Steinberg as trustee for the three Steinberg children, $180,497; Sam Koplar, $69,084; Mrs. Sylvia Eisenman, $23,544; David Eisenman, $23,000; Eugene Epstein, $21,404; A. S. Summerfield of Little Rock, Ark., $18,974; Oscar G. Roeder, $17,328; Harry M. Friend, New York, $15,547; I. M. Kay, $12,589; Homer C. Gilliam, $12,111; Louis Tucker, $11,717; Mrs. Eva Landau, $11,282.

Mrs. Steinberg has a claim for $27,868 against the firm for securities valued at $23,275, plus a cash balance of $5592.

Creditors' Claims.

Included in creditors' claims of $810,939 after deducting the creditors' indebtedness to the firm from the value of securities held in the creditors' accounts with the firm are the following claims of $10,000 or more: Ben Carroll, $33,172; Eugene Freund, $20,924; E. S. Peters, $19,649; Brown Shoe Co., $18,643; Mrs. Harriet Ball, $18,544; Dr. James Haven, $12,997; Mrs. Mabel C. Priest, $11,875; George Bullock, $11,751; Frank D. McDonald, $11,021; Dr. Cleveland Shutt, $12,172; Edmar Investment Co., care of John Fredericks, $11,551. Steinberg's personal schedules, listing liabilities at $8,411,744 and assets at $4,512,451, included as contingencies the firm's assets and liabilities. It developed at a recent hearing that Steinberg was the largest creditor of the firm with reference to invested capital. Owner of an interest of 22 1/2 per cent, he had invested nearly $3,000,000 in the firm, it was stated.

The eight junior partners also filed schedules, including as contingencies the firm's liabilities and listing comparatively meager personal assets.

Each of the junior partners listed an indebtedness to the firm, representing an accumulated charge against him, proportionate to his interest in the partnership, on account of losses sustained by the firm in the last three years.

These debts were as follows: Paul Peterson, $125,703; J. S. McCourtney, $83,899; Gordon Scherck, $28,839; John Grunick Jr., $27,661; Irwin Harris, $26,949; Robert Waddell, $16,181; Hunter Breckard, $10,939; Charles Patton, $1559.

FIRE IN MUNY OPERA WIRING STOPS SHOW FOR 10 MINUTES

Floodlights Over First Tier of Boxes Lowered While Repairs Are Made.

The insulation of a wire leading to floodlights suspended over the first tier of boxes at the Municipal Opera caught fire last night during the presentation of "Bar" and stopped the show for 10 minutes. During that time, stage hands lowered the floodlights, those of the audience in the boxes hurried out of range, and the flames were put out by fire extinguishers. After temporary repairs, the lights were hoisted back into place and the show continued.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—For the pain and humiliation of being spanked over a comparative stranger's knee, Agnes Traher was awarded damages of $1235 in Superior Court. Last Halloween the 15-year-old high school girl soaked the windows of Dr. Bernard G. Traher's home. She said he turned her over his knee and "beat" her, injuring her spine.

Court Won't Cut Alimony.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—The Superior Court today denied a petition by Jan Rubini, violinist, for a reduction of the $150 monthly alimony he pays his former wife, Diane d'Aubrey, for the support of their two children. Rubini was accompanied to court by his present wife, Adele Crane, an actress. He testified he lived in a $20,000 home and spent $100 a month on clothes and the same amount for entertainment, but said it was necessary in his business.

TOKIO, Aug. 2.—A force of Japanese Bluejackets was landed at Yingkow, Manchuria, to assist local troops in beating off an attack by Chinese bandits, the navy office announced today. A cruiser and several destroyers were sent with the Bluejackets to the port city from Port Arthur, the announcement said.
The Chinese invaded the outlying streets, it said, and clashed with the Japanese, but were driven back.

RAILROAD MOTOR CAR RUNS INTO TRAIN; ONE DEAD, 12 HURT

Oil-Burning Passenger Carrier Overturns and Burns Near Peoria, Ill.
By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 3.—A brakeman was killed and a dozen passengers and members of the crew of a Burlington Railroad motor car were injured today when the car crashed into the rear of a slow-moving freight near Pottstown, six miles west of Peoria.
The motor car was thrown from the rails, rolled over and burned. J. W. Buck of Galesburg, brakeman, who was riding in the caboose, died in the flames.
The freight had been delayed to pick up a car and had just gotten under way when the oil-burning passenger car smashed into it. Warning torpedoes had been placed on the track.
The most seriously injured were members of the motor car crew, riding in the forward compartment. Several passengers in the rear of the coach received bruises and cuts. George J. Selbert, Galesburg, engineer of the motor car, was badly cut and burned, and Charles Egert, Galesburg, roadmaster on the motor car, burned and bruised.
Passengers receiving minor injuries were: Mrs. Mildred Lahr, her brother-in-law, Robert Lahr, and Lizzie Sahut of Edwards, Ill.; Mrs. Berdette Symmonds, Galesburg; and James Stephenson, Galesburg.

MAYOR OF OWANEGO RESIGNS; ACCUSED OF BALLOT TAMPERING

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PANA, Ill., Aug. 3.—Mayor Clyde McGuire of Owanego, six miles west of Pana, free on bond after being held by the Christian County grand jury on a charge of tampering with ballots at the election in that town, Robert Lahr, resigned. Alderman Jesse Fisher, who is also town constable, has been elected by the Council to finish out the 18 month term.
Mayor McGuire and former Aldermen Charles Dorr and Floyd Bundy, the latter two falling of re-election in April, were arrested on charges of ballot tampering at that election. In the places of Dorr and Bundy the voters-elected Charles Mink, Rush Henry and Burlee Lahr as Aldermen and the three filed the charges against the Mayor and two defeated Aldermen.
McGuire, Dorr and Bundy denied ballot tampering, saying that in their count on the ballots they sought under the law to make the official canvass of the election. The three are at liberty under $800 bonds each. The August Christian County Circuit Court grand jury will investigate the charges pending against the Mayor and defeated Aldermen.

MAUDE ADAMS INCOME INQUIRY

Judge Rules She Must Answer Questions on Stage Season.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Maude Adams must answer questions relating to her income while she was appearing in "The Merchant of Venice" during the season of 1931-32, Supreme Court Justice Sutherland decided yesterday.
The Court instructed John D. Williams, theatrical producer who applied for permission to examine Miss Adams before trial of his $203,000 suit against her, to explain the nature of his claim. Williams said he earned the money while working four and a half years to get Miss Adams back on the stage.

BUILDING MATERIAL FIRM SETTLES STRIKE

Workers Back on Job at General Co. — Walkout Affected 51 Other Concerns.

The strike of union employees of the General Material Co., which caused 52 building and paving material concerns in St. Louis and vicinity to suspend operations, has been settled. It was announced today by William Ryan, president of Chauffeurs' Local Union No. 600.
According to Ryan, union chauffeurs, engineers and laborers, who walked out May 16 in a dispute over overtime pay, returned to work this morning. About 50 men were involved in the dispute, but the services of all will not be required immediately.
The union leader stated that the men returned at the old wage scales, and that the dispute over extra pay for overtime work was settled satisfactorily to the union following conferences with company officers. The rate of pay for chauffeurs is 60 and 65 cents an hour, depending on the type of vehicle operated.
Ryan stated also that drivers for the Hunkins-Willis Lime & Cement Co. have joined Local 600, and that firm is now recognized as a union plant. With the strike settled, it is expected that non-union material firms, which suspended deliveries during the dispute as a precaution against violence, will resume operations.
The strike was marked by violence and disorder. On June 10,

Ben and Clarence Dody, father and son employed as strikebreakers by the General Material Co., were shot to death by an unidentified slayer in St. Louis County. Imported strikebreakers were reported to have received $100 a week and expenses to drive material trucks.
Numerous clashes occurred between members of the opposing groups, resulting in the infliction of six strikebreakers on charges of assault to kill. A considerable loss resulted from the dumping of truck loads of paving material in the streets by men, who warned non-union drivers to stop making deliveries.

INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Olen D. Johnson, a section foreman of Warwick, Kan., suffered a skull injury yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile after alighting from a street car at Grand and Shaw boulevards.
The driver, John Kaysing, 4002 Magnolia avenue, said Johnson, apparently attempting to get out of a heavy rain, ran behind the street car and into the path of his machine. Johnson was taken to Missouri Pacific Hospital.

DOG DAYS ARE HERE

So you'd better join the millions of housewives who get their hot-weather food-do's and food-don'ts direct from A & P's radio broadcast.
We discuss diets; give recipes; and give you red-hot marketing tips that, strangely enough, help to keep you cool. Not the old-fashioned "Household Hints," dry as dust, but entertaining, sprightly advice that makes cooking a pleasure.
These two Scotties were sketched as they listened in at 8:45 in the morning, Eastern Standard Time, over one of the stations of the National Broadcasting Company.
Their Scotch natures and canine instincts made them so interested in economy and something good to eat that they couldn't wait for the second broadcast at 9:30.
Needless to say, these canny canines accompany their mistress every morning to an A & P store where they never fail to learn at least one lesson in saving money.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN MANCHURIAN FLOOD

Vast Area Under Water—Heavy Loss of Life Reported.

By the Associated Press.
HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 2.—Twenty-one days of uninterrupted rains have converted North Central Manchuria into a vast lake and brought about a national disaster.
Tens of thousands of square miles of rich harvests have been destroyed and enormous stocks of grain and soy beans lost. Thousands of farmers and other residents have lost their homes and are flocking to the cities from the terrible inundation. The floods threaten to rival those of 1914, the worst in Manchuria's history.
Harbin is isolated. All three branches of the Chinese Eastern Railway are paralyzed and all communication with Siberia is cut off. It is possible to travel by boat from Harbin to Tatsihar, a distance of 200 miles, over a route much of which was once land. Considerable loss of human life and livestock has been reported from many districts. Several hundred square miles in the Noun River area are under water and the floods have raised a problem which the new Manchoukuo Government has found beyond its capacity to handle.
The floods show no signs of abating. Imjinpo is threatened with inundation as a result of a 13-foot rise in the Sungari River since yesterday. Three thousand cars of grain and 1000 cars of timber were flooded at Fuchiatien, a suburb of Harbin. The Sungari here is nine feet above its normal level.

HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 2.—
Twenty-one days of uninterrupted rains have converted North Central Manchuria into a vast lake and brought about a national disaster.

Tens of thousands of square miles of rich harvests have been destroyed and enormous stocks of grain and soy beans lost. Thousands of farmers and other residents have lost their homes and are flocking to the cities from the terrible inundation. The floods threaten to rival those of 1914, the worst in Manchuria's history.

Harbin is isolated. All three branches of the Chinese Eastern Railway are paralyzed and all communication with Siberia is cut off.
It is possible to travel by boat from Harbin to Tatsienlu, a distance of 200 miles, over a route much of which was once land. Considerable loss of human life and livestock has been reported from many districts.

Several hundred square miles in the Nenai River area are under water and the floods have raised a problem which the new Manchukuo Government has found beyond its capacity to handle.

The floods show no signs of abateing. Intense rain is threatened with inundation as a result of a 13-foot rise in the Sungari River since yesterday. Three thousand cars of grain and 1000 cars of timber were flooded at Fuchien, a suburb of Harbin. The Sungari here is nine feet above its normal level.

HUEY LONG ASSAILS COALITION VOTING OF SENATE DEMOCRATS

By the Associated Press.
WYNNIE, Ark., Aug. 2.—The Federal Farm Board and the Hoover moratorium were made issues in Hattie Caraway's campaign for renomination to the United States Senate yesterday, as Mrs.
Caraway and Senator Huey P.
Long continued their State-wide tour.

At the cross roads and on courthouse lawns the junior Arkansas and Louisiana Senators joined in hurling criticism without distinction at Senate Republicans and Democrats, who, they said, "got taken in with Mr. Hoover's pink relief pills."

Mrs. Caraway brought the Farm Board into the discussion when she said that some of President Hoover's appointees to the board described themselves as "dirt farmers," but were chiefly distinguished by the "high polish of their man-icures."

Senator Long shouted his denunciation of the national administration and the coalition voting of the two parties. However, he refrained from a direct attack on Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, asserting "our differences will be settled on the Senate floor."

"We hear a lot about taking Mrs.
Caraway out of the Senate because a woman has no business there," Long said. "Well, she has more sense than a pot of these so-called national leaders, and she proved it when she was the only one of us from this neck of the woods that didn't get taken in by the Hoover palaver about a moratorium last year."

JOBLESS CONVENTION PREPARATIONS BEGUN

Leader Says 25,000 Will Attend Creve Coeur Meeting; Liberty Party New Name.

A crew of 200 men will go to work Monday preparing the Creve Coeur race track for the national convention of the Jobless-Liberty parties which, it has been announced, will be held there Aug.
17-18, according to N. G. Bayster, professional convention manager,
in charge of arrangements.

Bayster said he had arranged to hire the men through the American Legion's Job-Finding Committee. They will include plumbers, carpenters, electricians and laborers, he said.

Preparations will be made, it was learned, to take care of 35,000 delegates from all over the country, about 15,000 of whom will represent the "jobless party," headed by the Rev. James H. Cox, a Catholic priest of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dispatches from Pittsburgh indicate Father Cox is assembling his adherents known as the "blue shirts" preparatory to leaving for St. Louis Aug. 14. Stops will be made at principal cities en route and in the vicinity of Effingham, Ill. Contingents from the East, North and South will merge for the remainder of the trip.

The "blue shirts" will travel by automobile, Bayster said, and are scheduled to arrive here the day before the opening of the two-day convention. The name "jobless party" will be dropped after the convention, he disclosed, and the two parties will merge under the name "Liberty Party."

Name Is Misleading.
Bayster said the term "Jobless Party" does not signify its members are unemployed. He said it was organized originally last spring by independent merchants and "dissatisfied Republicans" with a program of immediate unemployment relief.

The party is confined to Pennsylvania, he added, and is organized in club units, 50 men to a club. Each delegate, Bayster said, is required to have a minimum of $25 with which to pay his expenses. The "Jobless Party" contingent, he said, will have its own police force and will permit no straggling either en route to the convention or on the return home.

The Liberty Party, he explained, is national in scope and was organized several years ago. It has as its head William H. "Coin" Harvey, 50-year-old free silver advocate.

Harvey stopped over last night on the way from a State convention at Indianapolis to his home at Monte Ne, Ark., visiting the Creve Coeur convention site.

Bayster said most of the delegates will stay at hotels although camping space will be provided on the grounds for 200 Pennsylvania legionnaires, members of the "blue shirts." His plans provide for using the grandstand as a speaker's stand with the interior of the half-mile track as an outdoor convention place. All but delegates will be excluded from the track, which is bounded by a 10-foot board fence.

Space for Visitors.

Accommodations will be provided for about 15,000 visitors on the grounds outside of the enclosure, he added. Restaurants and other concessions will be operated, he said.

Bayster said amplifiers would be installed, carrying the words of the speakers not only to the delegates but to the visitors outside of the fence. Flood lights will be arranged so as to light the convention ground at night. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and night, Bayster said.

Drinking water will be carried to the site in tanks, Bayster said.
Special sewage and other sanitary arrangements will be made also, he added.

AGE OF OLDEWAY SKELETON CHALLENGED BY SCIENTISTS

Critics at London Congress Declare Early Dating Must Be Considered Disproved.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 2.—New doubts about the antiquity of the now famous Oldeway skeleton of Tanganyika, Africa, which was found in rocks dating back about a million years, has been raised at an international congress of scientists now in session here.

An unidentified paper was read before the congress of prehistoric and photo-historic science investigators regarding recent discoveries in the Lake Victoria region of Africa.

One scientist rose to declare that some of the mineral material found in the ribs of the Oldeway man had been analyzed in Germany. The analysis, he said, disclosed that this material was of late insertion in the pre-historic soil in which the skeleton was found almost 20 years ago.

Other members of the congress criticized the early dating of the Oldeway man and declared it must be considered disproved.

THINKS BLACK SPOTS IN MILKY WAY SOLID

Astronomer Believes They Are Not Spaces Between Star Clusters.

By the Associated Press.
MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal., Aug. 2.—Dr. Robert J. Trumpler, Lick Observatory astronomer, has found evidence that the black spots in the milky way are not empty spaces between star clusters, but are masses of tiny particles and possibly dark meteoric bodies.

Using as an example a photograph made of the "Sagittarius" area, he said: "In this star field, so densely studded with minute stars that there is hardly any space left between the photographic star images, we come suddenly upon a dark spot, where faint stars are almost entirely missing."

"A real vacancy of stars could only appear as such if it extended all through the depth of our stellar system. It would have to be a narrow, straight tunnel so long it would take from 10,000 to 20,000 years for light to pass from one end to the other, and this tunnel would have to be pointed exactly toward us. Otherwise we would not be able to see through it."

"Since there are hundreds of such dark spots, now generally termed dark nebulae, the tunnel idea seems extremely improbable."

"The physical laws of interaction between matter and light tell us a given mass is most effective in obscuring passage of light when it is divided into tiny, solid particles."

"This suggests that the dark nebulae which often appear quite opaque, are largely made up of fine cosmic dust, with which free atoms and electrons, and perhaps larger meteoric bodies may also be mixed."

"Not only do we find dark matter of wide distribution in our own galaxy; its presence is even more noticeable in many of those other distant stellar universes which we call spiral nebulae."

"The matter constituting our universe is evidently found in either of two states: In organized bodies like the sun and the stars, which by their peculiar regular and symmetric constitution have reached the stage of luminous radiation and cheer our eyes with their twinkling light; or in unorganized, chaotic masses of tiny particles, irregularly scattered through vast spaces mostly dark, only in a few places becoming visible as nebulae."

"The latter would rather appear to be the primordial state and may in the scheme of the universe be of no less importance than the first."

SUES TO RESTRAIN EX-WIFE FROM REMOVING SECURITIES

Dr. Emory M. Fromer, a St. Joseph, Mo., physician, filed suit in Circuit Court today for an injunction to restrain his former wife, Mrs. Lillian Ponger Fromer, also a physician, of the Branscome Hotel, from removing bonds valued at $37,000 and other securities from a safe deposit box at the First National Bank.

The suit is directed against Mrs. Fromer and the bank. Dr. Fromer alleges the bonds are his property and that he fears his former wife will remove them before sailing for Europe Aug. 10. According to his attorney, part of the bonds were given as security for a $200 monthly alimony payment agreed on when Mrs. Fromer obtained a divorce here last March. Although she is designated Mrs. Fromer in the suit she obtained restoration of her maiden name of Ponger.

Circuit Judge Hartmann set a hearing on the case for Friday.

DRYS ARE NOMINATED IN KANSAS PRIMARY

Senator McGill, Again Named by Democrats—Paulen Leads Republicans.

By the Associated Press.
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 3.—Kansas is still dry, after yesterday's primary—in which wet candidates fought the favor of voters of this prohibition State for the first time in 20 years.

Returning today show the renomination of U. S. Senator George McGill and Gov. Harry H. Woodring by the Democrats.

Ben S. Paulen, banker and former Governor, took a 10,000-vote lead early in his race with Joe H. Macer, for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Alfred M. Landon, oil man, leads in the Republican race for Governor.

Senator McGill, Paulen and Landon are listed as drys.

Chauncey B. Little, former Representative in Congress, who seeks repeal of the eighteenth amendment, was McGill's opponent. McGill led Little nearly two to one.

Joseph H. Brady, Kansas City lawyer, who entered the Republican gubernatorial race on a "vote-as-you-drink" platform, received less than one-fifth of Landon's votes.

Landon and Woodring will be opposed in the November election by John E. Brinkley, gold standard specialist, who will make the race as an independent. He polled 123,000 "write-in" votes two years ago.

It was Representative against Representative in the new First Congressional District, where W. P. Lamberton and James G. Strong were thrown together by reapportionment as opponents for the Republican nomination. Lamberton led on early returns.

Representative Harold McGugin (Rep.), Third District; Homer Hoch (Rep.), Fourth District, and W. A. Ayres (Dem.), Fifth District, were renominated without opposition. Republican incumbents apparently were renominated in the other districts.

LOUIS DE HATRE, 83, DIES AT HOME IN BRIDGETON

Well-Known Figure at Lambert Airport Where Son Operates Restaurant.

Louis de Hatre, a familiar figure at Lambert-St. Louis field from the time it was established and the father of Louis de Hatre, operator of a restaurant patronized by Col. Lindbergh and many other famous aviators, died yesterday at his home at Bridgeton of infirmities of age.

Mr. de Hatre, who was 83 years old, was a former Texas Ranger and during the 1913 air races he directed traffic at the flying field mounted on an old white horse.

From the time of the establishment of the field, in 1911, he worked there, becoming known generally as "Dad de Hatre." Although he had done no active work for several years he often visited the field, commenting on its present appearance as compared to the days when he mowed the grass on the landing area before it was taken over by the city.

Besides his son, Louis, he is survived by another son, Virgil de Hatre, and two daughters, Miss Mary de Hatre and Mrs. Catherine Milton.

DR. SAYMAN EXHIBITS RUBBISH IN COURT

Soap Man Also Opens Court, Shows Revolver at Peace Disturbance Trial.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—One of the Americans associated with Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king, has testified that Kreuger was asked on his last visit to New York, to share his complex financial burden with his American representative on account of his mental condition.

The testimony of George Murnane, a partner in Lee Higginson & Co., before counsel for the Irving Trust Co., as trustee in bankruptcy for the International Match Corporation, a Kreuger interest, was made public yesterday.

Murnane said that Donald Durant, another partner, had submitted to Kreuger before his suicide last March an agreement whereby he would have taken Lee Higginson & Co. more into his confidence and made his bookkeeping methods conform to American standards.

Kreuger's attitude was not disclosed. Murnane had suggested, he testified, that two partners in the brokerage house accompany Kreuger to Sweden and stay there long enough "to assure ourselves that the degree of mental breakdown which he had here isn't going to be recurring, and to satisfy ourselves that nobody has ever observed that kind of thing in him."

The misunderstanding occurred in an alley separating the T. M. Sayman Products Co., 2117 Franklin avenue, and the Pillow Manufacturing Co., 2117 Wash street. Three employees of Dr. Sayman were unanimous in their testimony that Dr. Sayman told them to clean the rubbish out of the alley and throw it on the property of Safton's company, where it belonged anyway.

Safton and two employees were just as certain that nobody knew where it came from—perhaps from junk wagons driven in the alley.

Both sides agreed Dr. Sayman sent for Safton to "have a look" at what was done and to tell him to "keep the alley clear."

Accounts in Disagreement.
Accounts beyond that were in and disagreement. Sayman's employee agreed with him that Safton dashed back into his building and emerged with a club—two, maybe three feet long—and threatened the soap man.

Safton and his witnesses said Safton most certainly did not get a club, but that Dr. Sayman whipped a revolver out of a shoulder holster and cried, "Halt!"

When Dr. Sayman was on the stand, Judge Foster elicited the information that he had had a permit, as a Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner, to carry a revolver, but that the permit expired June 2.

"Do you think that entitles you to carry a concealed weapon?" Judge Foster asked.

Whereupon Dr. Sayman cried: "It's not concealed!" and drew back his coat to show that it was in plain view in a shoulder holster ever at that moment.

Safton offered peace, saying he was willing to dismiss his charge against Dr. Sayman, that there was just a misunderstanding.

"There wasn't any misunderstanding," Dr. Sayman said. "He just got hot-headed. How would you like to see a young man like him jumping on a 75-year-old man like me without provocation?"

"I don't believe he would without provocation," the Judge answered. "If I were 75 I wouldn't be fighting in an alley."

Notified of Safton's Discharge.
He went ahead to try to persuade the elderly man to come to some agreement with Safton. "I don't want to come to any agreement," Dr. Sayman insisted, and said that Safton "didn't have the spirit of cleanliness in him." After all, he pointed out, there was the rubbish in the files in the case, assured the doctor that so far as the case was concerned, the rubbish was only that, and that he would discharge Safton. He had previously marked Safton's cross-charge as "dropped for want of prosecution."

TWO CONFESSED KIDNAPERS FACE CHARGES OF ROBBERY

Pair Arrested When They Take Victims to Bank for Ransom Money.

By the Associated Press.
RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 3.—Two participants in a kidnapping that ended at a Richmond Bank where they sought to force one of their two victims to withdraw $7500 from his account, faced charges today of attempted robbery with a pistol.

George N. Davis, 65-year-old Richmond capitalist, and R. K. Robertson, superintendent of the Davis-Stuart Orphanage near Lewisburg, Va., who were kidnapped and carried by automobile from Lewisburg to Richmond yesterday, were rescued by police, who trapped the kidnapers as they sought collection of the ransom money.

Chief of Police Jordan announced he had obtained a signed confession from the two men, who gave the names of Jack Liggett, 25 years old, Charleston, W. Va., and William Craft, alias Paul Whittington, 21, Wheeling, W. Va.

The chief said the men admitted planning and carrying out the kidnapping by posing as Internal Revenue agents investigating Davis' affairs.

Both were armed when police arrested them as Davis, playing for time, told his abductors his balance was only $6500, but said he would attempt to negotiate a loan for the remainder.

KREUGER ASSOCIATES WORRIED OVER HIS MENTAL STATE

FOUR-FOLD INCREASE IN POSTAL SAVINGS IN TWO YEARS

Postmaster Michener in Radio Address Says $4,000,000 Is on Deposits Here.

The increase in postal savings deposits throughout the country has been from $150,000,000 to more than $600,000,000 in the same period, the Postmaster said. He pointed out that the money is not held by the Government but is turned over to banks in each city or community which furnish collateral to the Government and are then free to use the money in making loans.

Postmaster Michener's address reviewed the history of various features of the postal service, which he described as "the largest business institution in the world."

Irish Emergency Fund Sought. DUBLIN, Aug. 3.—President de Valera today asked the Dail to appropriate 2,000,000 pounds as an emergency fund to open new markets for agricultural and manufactured produce, to promote trade and industry and to establish new industries. The request will be debated later.

Nurse Tells Secret of Quick Relief From Itching Skin

A nurse from a large hospital says—for happy relief from the itching tortures of eczema, rashes, eruptions, scales and many other skin troubles, apply Dr. Dennis' purifying, liquid antiseptic D. D. D. Prescription. Its gentle oils penetrate the skin, helping to soothe and heal the inflamed tissues. Clear and stainless skin appears almost immediately. Thirty years' success recommend this famous remedy. If the very first application of D. D. D. Prescription does not stop the most intense itching—your money back. See All druggists.

FRUSTRATES HOLDUP DISARMS ROBBER

Saloon Proprietor Knocks Intruder Down With Blow to Jaw.

Gus Gazzolo, proprietor of a saloon at 2501 North Broadway, frustrated a holdup by two men last night and disarmed one of them.

Entering the saloon at 9:30 p. m., the robbers ordered a bottle of soda each and as Gazzolo turned from the ice-box, one drew a revolver and ordered him to raise his hands. Instead, Gazzolo struck the man in the jaw, knocking him to the floor. The revolver was thrown from the robber's grasp and the unarmed robber immediately fled.

The second robber grabbed for the revolver but failing to get it, scrambled to his feet and ran out of the saloon. Gazzolo turned the revolver, which was fully loaded, over to police.

Benjamin Little, attendant at a gasoline station at Broadway and Osceola street, was held up early today by two Negroes, one of them armed, who robbed him of $138. He said they were in an automobile with an Alabama license.

James Shampine, an insurance collector of 4153 Prairie avenue, was held up in the 2900 block of Rauschenbach avenue yesterday afternoon by two robbers who took $18 and fled in an automobile.

Five shots were fired by police and detectives at a Negro who attempted to break into the jewelry store of Joseph Hartman, 4104 Easton avenue, early today. The officers, summoned by radio after a burglar alarm had been set off, found the burglar at the window with a pane of glass removed. He fled to Sarah street and escaped in an alley near Belle Glade avenue.

TWO MEN FOUND SHOT DEAD

Bodies Apparently Thrown From Auto on Indiana Highway.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Aug. 3.—Two men found shot to death along United States Highway 31, south of here, were identified today as residents of Louisville, Ky. George Hutchinson of Louisville identified them as Fred Sturgill, 30 years old, and Vernon Samuelson, 33. Hutchinson said he was Sturgill's brother-in-law.

The bodies of the two men were found late yesterday in weeds along the highway. Each body bore several wounds. Coroner W. A. Bickmeyer expressed the opinion that the men had been killed elsewhere and their bodies thrown from an automobile to the roadside. No motive for the slayings has been established.

CLASH OVER JUAREZ GAMBLING

Federal Court Employees in Fight With State Officials.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 3.—Attorneys asked the War Department in Mexico City yesterday to order Juarez troops to enforce a Federal Court injunction preventing the closing of the Juarez gambling casino.

Salvador Vargas de la Fuente, State District Attorney, closed the Casino Monday night on order of the State Government. He charged gambling was being operated in violation of state law. Employees of the Federal Court, attempting to enforce the injunction allowing the Casino to remain open, were overpowered by the District Attorney and 15 city policemen who closed the Casino doors and sealed them.

USES BOMB FOR HAMMER

Blacksmith and Son Killed in Explosion That Follows.

EDINBURG, Tex., Aug. 3.—Natividad Vells, Mexican blacksmith, found five bombs in a bandit cache years ago. Vells found them useful and handled them with impunity.

He knocked them about at his home in Camargo, across the border from Rio Grande City, Tex., and nothing happened. He used them at intervals as hammers. Naturally he seized one when a broken wagon was before him for repairs yesterday.

One blow was followed by an explosion. Vells, his son, Jose, a horse and a burro were killed.

ERECTS OWN MONUMENT

By the Associated Press. ANSONIA, Conn., Aug. 3.—Neketa Radsevic Sutkovoy, who last year dug his own grave, is putting the finishing touches on a sepulchre and monument built with his own hands. Sutkovoy, 67 years old, claims friendship with the late Czar Nicholas. He was chief jurist of a province near Kiev, Russia, was considered wealthy and entitled to be addressed as "Mister." A desire to travel brought him to this country. He was employed in a brass foundry for 25 years and retired on a pension about five years ago.

SUSPENDS NEW ILLINOIS GOAL RATES OF THREE RAILROADS

Commerce Commission to Investigate Fairness of Schedules It Had Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The Interstate Commerce Commission Monday suspended for 60 days operation of new rates on soft coal in Illinois, filed by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Minneapolis & St. Louis, and the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroads.

The tariffs were filed in an effort to meet an order made by the commission March 14. They applied both to intrastate and interstate traffic.

The commission, in ordering the suspension, said some of the schedules increased rates and others decreased them and that it felt the public would be injuriously affected. During the 60 days an investigation of the justice of the rates will be made.

VOTES TO ACCEPT GAS CASE DECISION

Mexico Council Approves Commission Ruling for Sale of Fuel Without Franchise.

MEXICO, Mo., Aug. 3.—The Mexico City Council Monday night voted unanimously to accept decision of the Missouri Public Service Commission which would force the Missouri Power & Light Co. to sell natural gas in Mexico without a franchise. The decision was to become effective Aug. 15. The Council is deadlocked, four to four, on calling an election on a proposal to give the utility company a 14-year franchise. The power company is expected to appeal the case and four of the eight councilmen are not in favor of carrying the fight through the courts.

AGED FLAVOR is

... Time's gift to CLICQUOT

Doesn't it seem reasonable that slow, careful blending will produce better flavor than hurried mixing? Of course, it does! Clicquot Club is noted for its rare mellowness. Fine flavor ingredients are AGED 6 MONTHS to mature before the blend is sweetened and before the sparkling water is added. It is aged flavor that makes the difference.

CARDS' GAME RAINED OUT; CUBS WOULD TAKE FRISCH

By J. Roy Stockton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Gabby Street's Cardinals and Bill Terry's Giants, the two big disappointments of the 1932 National League pennant race, will open a four-game series at the Polo Grounds tomorrow and instead of fighting for the lead or a contending position will be struggling for sixth place.

Today's game was postponed because of rain, and new arrangements call for a doubleheader Saturday.

After losing three out of five in Boston, while the Giants were taking three out of four from the Red Sox, the Cardinals today are one game ahead of the Giants, but New York can push the staggering world champions down to seventh place by winning today and tomorrow.

Sylvester Johnson, who held the Braves to seven hits Saturday, only to lose to Tom Zachary, a to will pitch tomorrow for the Cardinals, who expect to see the usual array of left-handed hurlers on the firing line for the Giants.

Johnson, in his last few starts, indicated that he had regained the form that made him a great pitcher last season.

Another "Dizzy" Reverse. Dizzy Dean, who challenges Johnson's right to the title of hard-knock champion, ran into another defeat yesterday, in the final with the Braves. Dizzy went to the rescue after Stout had started the eighth inning by walking the first batter and before Dizzy could turn back the Braves they had pushed a run over the plate to tie the score.

Then, in the ninth, Walter Berger picked on a slow ball and doubled to left. Leach beat out a bunt. Schumacher hit a long fly to Collins and the game was over. The score was 4 to 3.

HORNSBY DEPOSED, GRIMM IS SELECTED MANAGER OF CUBS

CHANGE WAS FOR BEST INTERESTS OF TEAM, SAYS CLUB PRESIDENT

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Baseball's most famous nomad, Rogers Hornsby, was on his way again today—deposed as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

The announcement of Hornsby's dismissal came last night, with a suddenness so startling as to leave the baseball world agog—as much agog as when John McGraw, without warning, quit as manager of the New York Giants last June.

In making his announcement, William L. Veeck, president of the club, said, without elaboration: "It was to the best interests of the club that Hornsby retire at this time."

Not only is the Rajah, probably the stormiest figure in modern National League history, all done as manager of the club—the third to be placed in his charge—but he is no longer a member of the club, having also been released as a player.

Hornsby, manager of the Cubs since the last four days of the 1930 season, when he replaced Joe McCarthy, will be succeeded by Charlie Grimm, first baseman for the club since 1925. He also has been team captain.

Salary Will Be Paid.
Hornsby's only comment before leaving the club at Philadelphia for his home at Robertson, Mo., was that Veeck had wanted to make the move and "it's perfectly all right with me." His salary, said to be $40,000 annually, will be paid to the end of his contract, which expires Dec. 31, 1932.

Almost from the time when he broke in with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1915, Hornsby's major league career was a succession of sensational incidents from start to finish. His bow in major league baseball was inauspicious, but in 1920, he started on a six-year batting rampage that notched him as one of the game's greatest right-handed batsmen.

Three times during the period he compiled averages of better than .400, and in 1924, he set a standard in hitting, .424, that has not been equaled. He became manager of the Cardinals for the 1928 season, and playing at second base, led the club to its first National League title. The world series with the New York Yankees was one of the most thrilling. Hornsby's club won, four victories to three.

Traded After World Series.
The baseball world was dumfounded, when, during the winter after the Cardinals' triumph, Hornsby was traded to the New York Giants for Frankie Frisch and Fletcher Jones. It was hinted that the Rajah would become the successor to McGraw as manager of the Giants. He was with the club just a year before baseball received another jolt, via Hornsby.

He was traded to the Boston Braves, and a few weeks after the start of the 1928 campaign opened, another mild sensation was created when he replaced Jack Statteray as pilot of the club.

Another peak in his career was reached in the autumn of 1928 when he came to the Cubs in baseball's biggest deal. The late William Wrigley Jr., determined to have a championship club, paid out $125,000 and five players, Freddie Maguire, Percy Lane Jones, Harry Siebold, Bruce Cunningham and Leggett, for Hornsby's services.

Then, just before the final series of the 1930 season, Wrigley disappointed at the Cubs' failure to win the title, dismissed Joe McCarthy, and appointed Hornsby to the task of leading the Cubs.

GRIMM TELLS MEN HIS PLANS, HORNSBY SAYS GOODBYE

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—Charlie Grimm, first baseman and new manager of the Chicago National League team, drew the Cubs about him today and received their pledge of loyalty.

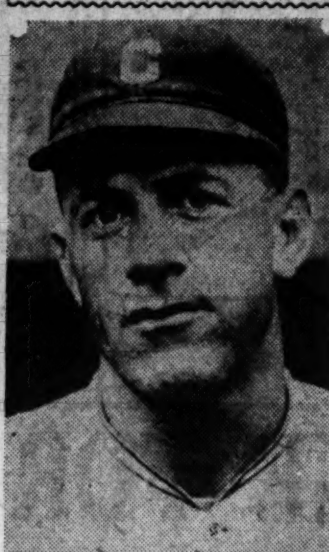

Appointed manager of the team yesterday by President William L. Veeck after Rogers Hornsby had been deposed, Grimm took advantage of the wet weather and today's postponement to have a talk with his men. He told them he had served under good managers and knew what the change in his position on the club meant.

Down in the lobby of the hotel Hornsby said good-by to members of the team before leaving later in the day for St. Louis. The players wished him success in any new venture he undertook.

"Of course, there's reason for me being fired," said Hornsby, "but I think one else should do the talking."
"I am going home to my farm and take life easy. I do not expect to play ball again this year. I have a contract with the Cubs until the end of the year. If I earn anything in baseball between now and the end of the contract, the amount would be deducted from the contract sum. So, if I remain idle I will be just as well off financially."

Hornsby said he was on friendly terms with Grimm and the club management. "The Cubs are a good team, and I hope they win the pennant and the world series under Grimm," he said. "More power to him."

tain every device to stimulate and promote good will."

$100,000 of Radio Time.

LIKEWISE, we are led to wonder if one of the "devices" tending to stimulate good will could possibly include a proposal made by radio "lobbyists" to the athletic heads of the conference that $100,000 worth of radio time be devoted to advertising the Coast grid games in exchange for the broadcast privileges.

Football broadcasts are very good. Many of us would rather listen to one than brave the weather, the crowd, the time lost and the expense incidental to attending the game.

And the heads of college conferences seem to think there are a lot of other John Does and Richard Ross of the same opinion.

It's Sure to Come.

AT Los Angeles an electric eye and an electric watch are checking up on the timers and judges at the Olympic games. A timing system synchronized with a camera takes the factor of human error entirely out of the picture. The starter's pistol and the finish line, respectively, open and close the circuit, removing all chance of mistakes.

His findings, however, are not official, but are used only as a check in case of dispute. There is hardly any doubt that, in the course of a year or two, electric timing will supersede the hand timing that has prevailed in the past and caused some very heated debates.

It was shown in the recent trials in California that errors of hand timing greater than one-fifth of a second are possible. True, such discrepancies do not hustling German, came right back to clock off winning races in 21.4 seconds each. Lull led the third American, George Simpson, and looked the part of a real contender. The way those sprinters look, it may take close to the world record of 20.8 seconds to win the title that Percy Williams relinquished, without even a struggle. Williams withdrew from the 100 after pulling a muscle in the 100 meters. America's trio of high hurdlers also look ripe for a clean sweep as well as record-smashing final. Two of them cracked the Olympic record of 14.6 seconds in yesterday's semi-final. Jack Keller romped home in 14.5 seconds, after which George Saling led his teammate, Percy Beard, in 14.4, also tying the world record.

American Defeats Lehtinen.
Ralph Hill, the Oregon boy, stepped himself a real threat in the 5000 meters by running away from Lauri Lehtinen, young Finnish favorite, in the trials. Hill's time of 14:59.6 was not so impressive as the way he outstripped Lehtinen after the Finn challenged on the last lap. All three Americans, including Dan Dean and Paul Rekers, qualified for the 5000 meters final, scheduled Friday.

The American Negro's contribution to the rapidly-mounting point score of the United States was emphasized again, when Edward Gordon of Iowa won the broad jump title with a leap of 35 feet 1/4 inch. This fell considerably short of the mark of the world and present world record holders, Sylvio Cator of Haiti and Chuhel Nambu of Japan, to fulfill expectations.

Cator failed to qualify among the six finalists and Nambu finished third, with a jump of 24 feet 5 1/2 inches. Cator and Nambu both have cleared 26 feet in competition, alone among the world's broad jumpers, and the Japanese holds the official record of 26 feet 2 1/2 inches.

The Olympic track and field team championship, meanwhile, is virtually all over but the shouting. The United States, with eight events concluded, has 31 points. Iceland is next with 20, while Canada has 19, Finland 16, Great Britain 13, Poland and Germany 10 each, Sweden 8 and Japan 7. Today's events figured to shoot the Yankee total well beyond the 100 mark.

Women Set Two Records.
So far as the female of the species is concerned, it doesn't seem to count unless it's a world record. World records for women have topped in all five feminine events in the 1928 Olympics and so far in the tenth Olympics the streak is unbroken, with world standards surpassed in the first three contests—three times in the 100 meters dash, by Stella Walsh of Cleveland and Poland, twice in the discus throw, by Ruth Osborn, Missouri girl, and Lillian Copeland, American girl, and once, in the javelin, by Babe Didrikson, American all-around star from Texas.

Miss Walsh won the 100 meter title in 11.9 seconds, identical with her time in two preliminary races, as she disposed of the world record of 12 seconds.

Miss Copeland threw the discus 123 feet 2 inches, broke the world record of 118 feet 6 inches, after Miss Osborn, with a throw of 131 feet 8 inches, also had surpassed the listed record of 129 feet 11 1/2 inches.

Miss Didrikson, who heaved the javelin 143 feet 4 inches, undertook her second assignment today in the 80 meter hurdles trials.

Miss Copeland attained the goal she had set for herself on her very last chance and cried about it. Cried for joy, because on her ninth attempt she had thrown the discus for a new world's record and won the Olympic championship.

"Four years ago, Lillian went to Amsterdam and took second place in the Olympic games there. "I just had to do it," she said after winning. "I said before the games this would be my last appearance in competitive sport. I've work to do now. And then on my first eight throws, I couldn't get the feel of it."

But great as was Lillian's triumph, it did not entirely erase the memory of another fine record, one that stood only for half an hour and was made by a younger girl, a girl from a country town in the Midwest.

Ruth Osborn, 18, of Shelbyville, Mo., half an hour before Miss Copeland established her record, broke out one of 121 feet 8 inches, breaking one of 129 feet 11 1/2 inches, set in 1928 by Hallina Konopacka of Poland.

Miss Osborn decided only four months ago to try the discus. She picked it up one day at the Shelbyville High School and liked the feel of it. The Shelbyville High football coach showed her how to use it. Four months later she became world's champion for half an hour.

But while Miss Osborn may have another chance, the sturdy Miss Copeland has decided for herself that yesterday was her last.

SWEDEN WINS MIDDLEWEIGHT WRESTLING TITLE

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 3.—Pinning Robert Hess, Iowa State College star, in two minutes and 10 seconds, Ivar Johansson, Sweden, won the 1932 Olympic middleweight wrestling championship today.

The Hess-Johansson match became a championship battle after Kyoshi Luukko, Finland, had thrown Joseph Tunoyi, Hungary, in the opening bout of the final day of catch-as-catch-can grappling.

Johansson finished with three "bad marks" and Luukko with four. Hess and Tunoyi had six each which eliminated them. Five bad marks puts a wrestler out of competition. Luukko was credited with second place.

Although winning with a fall over Joseph Taylor, Great Britain, in 8 minutes 49 seconds, Edgar Swenson, University of California, had slight chance for the featherweight title. The Bear grappled for four bad marks against him, while the other two remaining featherweights, H. Philjakmaki, Finland, and Einar Karlsson, Sweden, had two and three, respectively.

Johnny Nichols To Meet Abad
With the announcement that Johnny Nichols, Muskogee (Ok.) featherweight, has been signed to meet Davey Abad, shifty Panama battler, in the main 10-round match at Friday night's boxing show at the Battery A. Promoter Jack C. Tippet states that his card will be composed of two 10-round battles, an eight-round match and three four-round scraps.

Nichols has fought here several times. On one occasion he put up a hard battle against Johnny "Peewee" Kaiser. Last winter in a Southern ring Nichols and Abad fought to a 10-round draw. Johnny is only a young fellow, but his aggressiveness and punching power stamps him as a dangerous foe.

Tippet also has signed Johnny Miles and Frank Stolek, local light heavyweights, to meet over the eight-round route. Miles has won two of their three matches.

Benny Deaptham and Allen Mattheus, local Negro fighters, are in their bout.

EQUIPOISE WILL NOT BE STARTED IN $25,000 RACE AT HAWTHORNE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Equipose, 1932 handicap champion of American turf, is going to pass the $25,000 Hawthorne handicap next Saturday.

Word was received today that Equipose, owned by Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, would not start because of a heavy impost of 131 pounds allowed him. Freddie Hopkins, trainer of Equipose, said the thoroughbred found carrying 134 pounds a much of a burden in the Arlington handicap and that it would be great a handicap to carry 131 pounds against the stars in the Hawthorne classic.

The East, however, intends to make a strong bid for the $25,000 Hawthorne handicap. Equipose will be absent. Equipose, winner of the Saratoga handicap, Blenheim, which finished fourth the same stake, were lined up together with the other starters for the race and a quarter event. These handicappers performed, owned by William Woodward, of New York, and Mrs. H. C. Phillips, of Saratoga today, arriving at Hawthorne tomorrow.

$1,325,568 SUIT FILED AGAINST INSURANCE CONCERN

Charges Equitable Life Society Bought Mortgage Firm, Has Failed to Pay for Property.
By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 3.—The Collins Mortgage Co. of Cedar Rapids yesterday filed suit in District Court to recover $1,325,568 from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, as the result of the purported sale of its business to the New York corporation last Nov. 1.

It is the second suit filed within a month by the Collins company as part of its alleged claims against the defendant. An action is pending in the Winnebago County Court in which a judgment of $1,562,637.78 is asked by the Cedar Rapids firm.

The Collins company alleges the defendant agreed to purchase the business, records, assets and good will of the plaintiff for an amount left to be determined as "fair and reasonable."

The petition states that the agreement was carried out, but that the defendant has refused to pay for any part of the property.

OPERATORS CAN'T PAY MORE, LEWIS TELLS MINERS

Union President Addresses 7000 at Benton, Ill.—200 Special Deputies on Hand but There Is No Disorder.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
BENTON, Ill., Aug. 3.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, advised about 7000 Southern Illinois union coal miners and their families to accept the proposed new mine workers' wage scales, at the Franklin County fairgrounds yesterday afternoon.

There was no disorder, although several plans had been made to prevent trouble in the fair grounds. The fairgrounds, about a mile north of Benton, were patrolled by Sheriff Robinson, his regular force of six deputies and 200 citizens whom he had deputized for the occasion.

Plans for an orderly order were laid at a meeting of about 350 miners and other citizens last night. It was decided not to arm the special deputies.

About 20 State highway patrolmen handled traffic on roads in the vicinity. The grandstand at the fairgrounds was filled. Local miners' unions of Benton called the gathering.

Lewis came in a group of half a dozen automobiles from Indianapolis, arriving at the fairgrounds about 1:45 p. m. The meeting was opened with a prayer by a local minister.

Storm Interrupts Speaker.
Although Lewis stood before the crowd for about two hours, his speech was interrupted by rain for intervals of as long as 20 minutes by thunder and lightning, in the course of a rainstorm.

He said the proposed wage scales negotiated recently by leaders of the United Mine Workers with the operators, and which are subject to ratification by the rank and file, were the best possible terms. The union miners have not been working for several months. Lewis said the operators could not afford to pay any more than is now offered, and added, "I would be unjust to the federation and to my office if I said the operators could pay more than they have agreed to pay."

It is impossible for the Illinois operators to pay higher wages and compete with other fields, the union president insisted. He said the Peabody Coal Co. had ordered $25,000 tons of coal a week from the non-union Kentucky field, at a price of $1 to $5 cents a ton for mine run and 45 cents a ton for slack. Another operator had ordered 2500 carloads of Kentucky coal at 61 cents a ton, he went on. Men mining this coal receive "miserable wages," Lewis declared.

Warnings of Communists.
Urging the Illinois miners to reject Communist counsel from within their ranks, Lewis warned that if this was not done the principle of collective bargaining and the future of the union would be endangered.

"Unless you do negotiate," he cautioned, "your wages will be like those in the Kentucky non-union field. They will be what the operators dictate and the standards of living will be reduced below an endurable point."

Financial troubles of the Illinois coal operators were pointed out by Lewis and he referred to the competition of oil and other fuels. He expressed "deep regret" that any man should have to accept a wage reduction.

Warns Against Dole as Relief Policy; Favors More Thorough Inquiries.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 3.—A report of the subcommittee of the State Commission on Taxes and Expenditures warns against the Dole for unemployment relief and urges more speed in giving aid.

The report advocates giving "work to those unfortunate citizens instead of giving a dole" as "more consonant with the ideals of American citizenship."

The report suggests further efforts to get reductions in salaries paid by the Unemployment Relief Commission in order to give employment to more persons. The report advised purchase of coal, food, clothing and other supplies from neighborhood stores; not to employ more than one member of a family, and more thorough investigation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Bolivia and Paraguay were requested to submit to neutral proposals to avoid war in a joint note signed here today by representatives of the United States and 18 other American republics.The signing took place at the State Department after the peace proposal was approved unanimously by all neutral American Governments. It was proposed by the five nations seeking the basis for a settlement of the 60-year-old Paraguayan-Bolivian territorial dispute in the Chaco.By the Associated Press.
LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 3.—The Ministry of War ordered today a mobilization of all classes of youths between 22 and 29 years old, in anticipation of war with Paraguay in the Chaco region.The order also included all retired officers between 20 and 50.
A high official told the Associated Press, Bolivia would inform the League of Nations that an immediate settlement of the Chaco dispute must be effected or Bolivia will go to war.This answer, he said, will be made to a note received yesterday from Dr. Jose Matos of Guatemala, president of the League Council. The note was sent from League headquarters at Geneva to Bolivia and Paraguay, reminding them of their obligations as mem-to Go to War.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 3.— Hundreds of excited women be-lieged the Government today, demanding the right to go to war.They came by dozens, hanging on trucks and wagons, crowding out of trains, and rushed for the stadium where recruiting activities were centered.The unexpected rush perplexed the Government, already overwhelmed after President Guaspari signed the decree last night mobilizing the country's armed forces.The women demanded active service on the battle front. This Government regarded as impossible, but in the deep Chaco wilderness even the mildest non-combatant service is considered too severe for women.Officials tried to suggest service in civilian capacities at home, filling the positions vacated by the men.
But the women scoffed. If Paraguay went to war, they shouted, their place would be in the Chaco, not the home.In a proclamation President Guas-pari called on the army to prepare to achieve "deeds of prowess."
"As before," he said, "when Paraguayans gave an example of astonishing vigor and valor which commanded the world's admiration, now we must demonstrate that our race retains these virtues of our fighting forefathers and we must repeat history."Five hundred Paraguayan soldiers, the first to leave here for the front, started up the river today toward the Chaco. Three hundred volunteers stormed the vessel just before it shoved off and nearly capsized it. The departure was delayed while they were ejected.This morning Capt. Almogordo,

AND EMPIRE WHEAT PACT SOUGHT AT BRITISH PARLEYDefinite Program Appears at Ottawa as Result of Surprise Interview with Canadian Premier.By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3.—Bilateral agreements between the Dominions and preference rates for empire wheat in Great Britain were set up today as two of the most important possible results of the Imperial Trade Conference.
This program, which includes four other major items, appeared to have grown out of an interview granted by Premier Bennett of Canada yesterday and a session of the British delegation which lasted well into last night.The other four objectives are:
1. A curb on Russian trade with Great Britain.
2. Creation of an empire bank to clear empire trade balances.
3. Freer dominion markets for British products which do not compete with home industries.
4. Lower preferential tariffs within the empire.Reply to Britain Indicated.
Some observers interpreted Premier Bennett's interview, which was something of a surprise, as an indication that he might have given the British delegation, which went into its conference almost at the same time, the direct reply it has sought for two weeks as to how much of an opening Canada is willing to give British steel and cotton manufacturers for a market in Canada.A large part of any such advantage would be at the expense of United States steel and textile interests.Although he was somewhat evasive as to whether he preferred a wheat pact or a preferential tariff on wheat, the Premier was regard-ASSERTS FRENCH AID ANTI-MUSSOLINI PLOTSFormer Member of Italian Foreign Office Says Judges Apparently Are Lenient.

By the Associated Press.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 3.—
The French were accused last night by Dr. Pasquale Villari, a former member of the Italian Foreign Office, of complicity with anti-fascists in conspiracies against the Mussolini regime which he said had cost 15 lives in recent years.Addressing the Institute of Politics on "Italy and the world Crisis," he said that several plots had been hatched on French territory for the "murder of Signor Mussolini.""These offenses have almost invariably been punished with great leniency, if at all," he charged,
"thereby producing the impression that French Judges and juries regard them with certain sympathy.""Italy," he said, "asks that Italian communists and revolutionaries in France should not be given any appearance of having official or semi-official encouragement."France and Great Britain were blamed for "encouraging dissension between Italy and Jugo-Slavia" by the shipment of arms, military planes, and submarines and in organizing the Jugo-Slavian army."The mere presence of submarines on the Dalmatian coast," he said, "can only argue aggressive intentions."Jugo-Slavia's "unfriendly attitude" toward Italy was inspired in part, he said, by the former country's "vast territorial ambitions, extending not only to adjacent Italian provinces, but to Albania and other parts of the Balkans."Villari said that Italy's purpose in aiding Albania to organize an army was not to establish a protectorate, but to protect Albanian frontiers from what he termed "komitadj bands" in Jugo-Slavia.
Dr. T. Z. Koo, former Chinese railroad official, said the "danger of a break-up of the Central Government at Nanking" was greater than the loss of Manchuria."If the Nanking Government breaks up," he said, "China will be plunged into civil war."GERMAN RIOTING

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—Rioting, with guns, knives and clubs for weapons, continues in Germany. Three men were killed and several severely injured yesterday.Social Democratic party func-tionaries were fired on today through windows at Norgau, near Koenigsberg, and at Szillen, near Tilsit.Communist bands poured volleys of gunfire into local Nazi congregating points in Zwenkau and Kalberslautern. At Hofgelsmar the police seized an armored Nazi lorry and at Katscher a big Nazi arms dump was discovered. Isolated assaults were reported at Breslau, Munich and at Solingen.At Koenigsberg, Communists retaliated for the attacks by National Socialists last Monday which resulted in the death of the Communist leader and another man in the party councils. They fired a volley into a Nazi meeting, killing one. Four were stabbed or shot during the riot which followed.A Socialist laborer, father of 10 children, was killed at Zwerbrueck whom had been taunting them.The Nazis beat the crowd with sulate at Frankfurt-Am-Main were smashed by Communists. The Reichsbanner auditorium at Lienitz was damaged yesterday by a hand grenade tossed by a motorist. At Goldberg the home of a county judge was riddled with bullets. Bottles of hydrochloric acid were hurled at the residence of three municipal officers at Marienburg. Flights occurred between Communists and Nazis at Nuremberg, Zirndorf, Schwerin and Memmingen. In each case several persons were wounded.The Nazi organ, Voelkischer Beobachter, blamed such outbursts on the Government, which, it declared, had proved itself unable to protect Hitlerites against Communist terrorism.At Kiel a bomb exploded in front of a synagogue. The wall was damaged and some windows were broken in a house across the street.Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, Minister of Defense and credited with being the power behind the Von Papen Government, was quoted by the newspaper Zweifl Uhr Abend-blatt today as expressing a frank admiration for Hitler and declaring Hitler's movement must be used, "because it is fired with faith."He contrasted Hitler with former Chancellor Bruening, whom he called "an ascetic," declaring Dr.

Bruening failed to make the masses of the people understand his aims."Germany's former error was a false optimism," he was quoted as saying. "Dr. Bruening told the people the truth, but after a while the masses always become unrec-ptive to asceticism, particularly when they are called upon to make sacrifices without understanding why.
They will submit to the greatest privations, I think, if one only talks the language that touches their hearts."A Government spokesman said he knew nothing about arrangements for a meeting between a Hitler representative and Defense Minister Kurt von Schleicher for the purpose of discussing the conditions for Nazi participation in the Government.Nazi headquarters at Munich declared that Hitler or any other high

ECONOMIC PARLEYAccepts Invitation to Meeting Sponsored by League —Debts, Individual Tariffs Barred.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The United States is willing to join a world economic conference that will ignore debts and specific tariff rates, but it has left open the possibility of debt discussions with individual nations.An invitation to the economic meeting sponsored by the League of Nations was accepted yesterday.
In its letter of acceptance, the invitation to take part in the conference, the United States informed Ramsay MacDonald that it would designate its representatives after the time and place of the preliminary meetings have been set.
The request to join said individual tariffs, reparations and debts would not be on the agenda. It specified that general tariff policy and silver would be discussed and that representatives of the participating nations would be designated to three committees—one to arrange the conference itself, one on economic problems and one on financial problems.In accepting this invitation, the State Department passed up a suggestion by Senator Borah of Idaho that war debts and reparations should be considered at the meeting along with disarmament.But debts and reparations can be considered in another way.
President Hoover said just after the Lausanne agreement leading to the new conference that the United States could not be bludgeoned into a consideration of debts by any combination of European nations.
The State Department, of course, took the same position.But neither officially nor unofficially has a responsible administration leader said that the United States would not hold separate talks with European nations on this problem. The question hangs, however, on some concerted plan abroad first to reduce arms. When such an agreement is reached, it is almost a foregone conclusion that the United States will at least talk about debts.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For Utility Rate Reductions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE Northwestern Business Association, at its regular meeting, June 13, adopted resolutions requesting the Missouri Public Service Commission for a 20 per cent reduction in rates of the Laclede Gas Light Co., Union Electric Light & Power Co. and Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

It also requested City Counselor Muench to file an action for a 20 per cent reduction in rates against the aforesaid companies.

In response to our request, the commission is reviewing the Laclede rates, to see if a further reduction can be made. It speaks of a $250,000 reduction in the rates of the Union Electric, but the small consumer receives no benefit from said reduction.

A reply from Mr. Muench stated that cases involving the charges of Laclede and Union Electric have been pending four years, and they are now awaiting a report. During one of the worst periods this city has ever endured, the only authorities the people can go to for relief from these excessive charges are merely watchfully waiting.

Just why it should require more than four years to settle rates in Missouri, and only a little more than one year in the State of Kansas, is more than we can understand. It took the Kansas Public Service Commission a little more than one year to investigate rates and issue an order for a reduction in gas rates of the Cities Service Gas Co. from 22.5 cents per thousand cubic feet to 23.5 cents.

How the present utility rates in this city can be maintained even by law, in the face of the depreciation of commodity values, reduced payrolls, the absolute loss of loan values of the holdings of merchants and home owners, we do not know. We know the excuse claimed by the utilities for past increases in rates was the replacement value of their holdings.

At our regular meeting, July 11, resolutions were adopted requesting the Missouri Public Service Commission and Mr. Muench for a reduction in rates of the Public Service Co. and the Peoples Motor Bus Co., said fares to be 5 cents per adult passenger and 2 1/2 cents for children under 12 years, with a 25 per cent transfer privilege. Said reduction to be based upon the replacement value of their holdings of this date.

These two transportation companies have reduced the number of vehicles operated, cut wages and they operate one-man cars and buses. The Public Service Co. has disposed of its power houses valued at $3,000,000 by the commission for rate-making purposes, abandoned miles of track and just what value it is allowed to maintain the present rate on we would like to know.

La Guardia's Aphorism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WOULD like to say that I believe these words of Representative La Guardia (Rep., New York), concerning the late unpleasantness at Washington, should go down in history along with Lincoln's: "Soup is cheaper than tear gas, and bread is better than bullets in these times of depression and war." That fellow Bacon, in the words of Mr. Coolidge, is "a lot of ham."

CLARA ELYN GORDON.

Our Stake at Ottawa.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE representatives of the British Empire are assembled in Ottawa in an imperial conference to discuss the paramount question of the tariff. The purpose of the conference is to co-operate for the interchange of goods within the empire. They expect to accomplish this by giving preferential tariffs and protection to one another. If they are successful, every industry within the empire will be benefited to the detriment of this country.

Great Britain and Canada are customers of this country second to none. If we lose these markets, labor, business and the general public will suffer. This conference was brought about by our tariff wall.

It is time for the business men of this country to start an intensive campaign to save this country from the calamity that is impending.

EMMETT BALDWIN.

Tax-Free Towns.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PONCA CITY, OK., becomes a tax-free town. That information should be spread across the front page of every newspaper in the United States. The millions of news readers probably know next to nothing about Ponca City itself and care less, but they are certainly highly sensitive to the word, "tax-free."

Should all the readers of the United States become educated as to why and how Ponca City, Chasuta and Colby, Kan., have won out their taxation problems. It is a certainty that intense interest will henceforth be exhibited by all thinking citizens in municipal ownership of public utilities.

With enough interest aroused, action of the right kind will surely follow.

INTERESTED.

PARTISANSHIP AND THE PEOPLE.

The confusion which resulted from so many congressional aspirants in the Missouri primaries this week is one of the prices the people pay for partisanship.

One of our contemporaries expressed the opinion when we were urging a special session of the Legislature to supply the redistricting omission that worse things could happen Missouri than a congressional delegation elected at large. We would like to ask our contemporary if anything worse than yesterday's congressional primary ever happened Missouri. It was impossible for the people to know all those 85 candidates, as it was impossible for them to determine how they might serve the popular interest. Our contemporary itself could not do it. The delegation to be elected in November will probably reflect every faith in the State, from the smug philosophy of that political armadillo, Calvin Coolidge, to an inward craving for good beef not made in a basement.

There will emerge in time from the political welter in the United States a third party which will save us from being ground between the Democratic and Republican millstones. The political coalition which has sustained England in an emergency shows what rationalism is possible where there are more than two parties in the field. Partisanship chiefly characterizes any session of the Missouri Legislature in which there is a division of power, as there was in the last Legislature. Had the Democrats held both houses of the Assembly and the governorship, they would have put their redistricting bill through and let the Republicans howl. So would the Republicans, had they been in complete power, have done the same thing, and let the Democrats howl. Because power was divided among them, the State has not been redistricted to conform to the last census.

It is the politicians who are responsible for these exhibitions of partisanship. The people lightly pass from one party into another. They must do that for their own protection. If the man who signed the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill is not the man many Republicans would care to continue in the White House, which obviously is the case, they readily vote for his opponent. The politicians, whose meal ticket the party is, would prevent this if they could. The requirement in the Missouri primaries of yesterday that the voter may not cast a mixed Republican and Democratic ticket shows what the politicians will do. It is the politicians who have kept us out of the League of Nations and the World Court. There is not the least evidence that the people of the United States acquiesce in our abstention from either of these forward-looking international movements. The fight on the League of Nations was a partisan battle between Mr. Wilson and his enemies. It is quite likely that had he taken some of the Republican leaders in the Senate, such as Senator Lodge, to the Paris peace conference with him, we would have gone into the League of Nations with no louder murmur than the anglophobia of Hearst and our own Jim Reed.

Many of the big cities have despaired of good government by parties. The progressive and decent element set partisanship aside and elect competent executives to run the city's business. Cincinnati sets an admirable example in this respect. It is something all the cities must do, if they are not at last to deliver themselves into the hands of political hoodlums. Nor can either the state or the nation escape the consequences of partisanship so long as we have only two parties, each panting for the skin of the other.

FORTUNE TAPPED THE PRINCE.

Meet Prince Axel of Denmark, who is, we should say, the unmelancholy Dane. He was on his yacht the other day, gazing idly across the dancing waters, bored stiff, probably, and hoping something would happen. Something did happen. A yawl, a bit to leeward, suddenly careened. And now meet Margit Manstad, battling out there in the icy Baltic billows, while her shipmates scream splendidly but helplessly. A princely plunge from the yacht and Axel has Margit in his arms. A hard, desperate pull for shore, but why prolong the suspense? They made it, and now Axel is hero as well as Prince throughout all jolly Scandinavia. Margit Manstad, we learn from the stinging dispatches, is a Swedish film actress. And though the news is reticent, we know, intuitively, that she is divinely tall and most divinely fair. We know about the blue of her eyes and the gold in her hair. We know the girl, in a word, is gorgeous. We know there are thousands of youths in the cold Northland who would give a kingdom, if they had it, for a chance to rescue Margit. But when the moment arrived Opportunity tapped Prince Axel on the shoulder. Yet Bacon tells us that "chiefly the mold of a man's fortune is in his own hands." That fellow Bacon, in the words of Mr. Coolidge, is "a lot of ham."

No wonder Andy Mellon is coming home. What's London to a Pittsburgher, with the Pirates leading the league!

PROSPERITY'S ASSASSIN.

A good many harsh things, all deserved, have been said about our Hawley-Smoot tariff law, but it remained for Pierre Lyautey, French economist and journalist, to put the brand of Cain upon it. Speaking at the Williamstown Institute of Politics, he indicted that law as "the principal cause of the economic crisis." And contrary to the Hoover administration's theory of the depression, that our industrial disaster was the result of European conditions over which we had no control, the Frenchman held that the debacle spread from America to Europe.

Whoever is speaking, it is probably a case of the pot calling the kettle black. Certainly the Hawley-Smoot tariff is among the seven blunders of the world, but it it never had been enacted the world, economically, was riding for a fall. The Hawley-Smoot law apparently was just the hurdle needed to make the spill a colossal smash. But Europe had done some extensive tariff construction and had pretty well strangled trade before our predatory special privilege threw up, shall we say? "The topless towers of Sillium." Giving our Hawleys and our Smoots full credit for their contribution to the assassination of prosperity, would it not be becoming in a French economist to hand an equally generous measure of responsibility to his country's Clemenceaus and Poincareus?

Mr. Lyautey is on surer ground when he says that there can be no hope for recovery either here or abroad until tariff rates are reduced. Economists everywhere will, with few exceptions, concur in that judgment. And one of the happy auguries of the times is that Gov. Roosevelt, as a candidate for the presidency, is preaching that doctrine. But if the world is to get back to a sane tariff policy, all the nations will have to do their share. Uncle Sam can't do it alone, but he can set the example, and probably will.

THE WILSON VICTORY.

Wilson's victory over Dearthmont in yesterday's primaries is a perfect example of the helplessness of any candidate, regardless of his record and qualifications, against a well-oiled and high-powered political machine. Boss Pendergast made good with a vengeance his boast that Kansas City would roll up a tremendous majority for the Platte City man. In one or more precincts in that city, Wilson was the unanimous choice, and the almost incredible fact that Dearthmont got not even one vote shows how ruthless is the Pendergast "delivery" system.

We said before the primaries that only a popular uprising of almost unprecedented proportions could stop the Pendergast onrush, and that uprising did not occur. It was not brought home to the people of Missouri that the issue between Wilson and Dearthmont transcended the two men, and was purely as to whether Boss Pendergast should control Missouri. The consequences of that domination were not dramatized by Dearthmont, and it was impossible for the voters to visualize the effect of all-powerful boss control of the State.

Wilson's strength in St. Louis is largely due to the Democratic city committeemen, who went down the line for him with all their influence. These committeemen did not stand for the interests of St. Louis or of the State, but for the political patronage that a Wilson victory means for them. A shameful, petty motive. Wilson's strength in the State is a hang-over from 1923, when he was defeated in the election, but succeeded in attracting the support of many of the politicians.

Boss Pendergast seems to have delivered a vote of approximately 100,000 in Kansas City and Jackson County, 90 per cent of it going to Wilson. A young man like Dearthmont, without anything behind him but the moral support of those who believe in good government, was as powerless to withstand such an avalanche as King Canute was to brush back the sea.

ST. LOUIS' BIG TREE.

Something which very few residents of this city know is that one of the largest sequoia, or redwood trees, in the Yosemite National Park is named the St. Louis. A new and handsome publication of the Stanford University Press entitled "Trees of Yosemite" contains its exact measurements. Two hundred and seventy-seven feet tall, the St. Louis is the third highest in the Mariposa Grove. Only the Clothespin and the Columbia, 293 and 290 feet, respectively, lift their woody cones and bluish-green foliage higher into the heavens. At its base this giant conifer is 25 feet through; 10 feet above the ground it is 16 feet. In places its bark alone is a foot thick.

Calculating the growth of the St. Louis and its companions at an inch every 20 years, its life history goes back 3000 years. When Alexander was conquering the world, the St. Louis was already a seedling. It was a sapling when Christ lived in Judea and by the time Columbus came it had achieved its prime. It is not an idle thought, but one extremely pertinent to the present day, that mankind would be infinitely better equipped to cope with its problems could it see them with the perspective of these monarchs of the forest.

JIMMIE WALKER'S APOLOGIA.

Mayor Walker of New York has prepared his reply to the Seabury charges, and, while only fragmentary excerpts of the 27,000-word document have appeared in the dispatches, its general tone is fairly clear. Mr. Walker is angry, but mostly hurt. Indignation crackles in a phrase here and an exclamation there, but melancholy rides the tale—a genuine regret at the unfairness which prompted the prosecution and characterized its conduct. That prosecution was, we are told, a dark Republican conspiracy, in which Judge Seabury, Democrat though he be, participated from motives of malicious personal hostility. The accused has lived a life in the open (O, he might have said the wide-open), and with royal righteousness, has done no wrong. But if the evil-minded detect dereliction in the events inquired into, those same events occurred in the Mayor's first administration, not in the term he is now serving, and are, therefore, ancient history, or are barred by the statute of limitation, and, anyhow, should be disregarded as irrelevant and incompetent. Good friends did shower him with princely gifts, but the gifts were tendered and accepted with nonchalance, with bonhomie, in the spirit of the golden times when life was drenched with prosperity.

Long before he was Mayor of New York Jimmie Walker was a song writer and contrived sadly sentimental lyrics of fleeting popularity. This latest thesis might, we should think, be set to music. It will sing, we are sure, a good deal better than it reads.

PLACATING THE WHEAT QUEEN.

If we may believe Mrs. Ida Watkins, the widow wheat queen of Sublette, Kan., the farmer at last has come to the point where he is ready to kick over the traces. Always before presidential elections the report has gone around that there was likely to be political defection along the rural routes, but always on election day the farmer and his wife and the hired hand have gone to the polls and voted it straight for the party which they thought stood for the principles of Abraham Lincoln. Higher tariffs and lower agricultural prices seemingly taught no lesson. Selling at wholesale and buying at retail did not make the impression it should. Now comes brazen-armed Mrs. Watkins, fresh from shoveling countless bushels of stored wheat to keep it from sprouting, to sound a warning which has all the ring of true alarm in it. Shouts the widow from Sublette:

I don't want amendments; I don't even want an investigation. I want to kick the devil out of the Farm Board. . . . All good Republicans and Democrats alike in my district say, "I'm going to vote for Roosevelt because Hoover has given us too much legislation." It's revolt at the polls we're talking about.

Obviously, Mrs. Watkins must be placated, and while the pleasant task rightfully belongs to Missouri's member of "the three musketeers," Arthur M. Hyde, we suggest the Secretary graciously defer in favor of two well-qualified Kansans. One is Vice-President Curtis, the other is former Senator Henry J. Allen, now Republican publicity man. Either should be glad to have an opportunity to tell the wheat queen why she is wrong.

The Public Service Co., one might say, took Mark C. Steinberg for a ride.

PROGRESS OF OUR OWN OLYMPIC RACE.

The Home Loan Bank Law

Difference of opinion exists as to value of new law, ranging from belief that it will rank in importance with Federal Reserve System to view that it will be just another bureau; law's details are rehearsed; question arises whether or not it will be possible for Home Loan Banks to dispose of their securities in present market.

From Business Week.

THERE seems to be some argument about the Home Loan Bank bill, but it is to be expected of the President's program of depression relief measures.

The President signed it with an enthusiastic forecast that it would cause prompt increase in residential construction. The Department of Commerce told him $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 will be spent on new homes as soon as the financing is available.

Equally sincere friends of the measure doubted it would do any such thing, but they said it would be of incalculable benefit by giving quick relief to small home owners and building and loan societies, insurance companies and banks, mutually entangled in the real estate mortgage situation.

A third group is inclined to minimize its importance during this depression, but believes creation of the Home Loan Bank System to be comparable with the founding of the Federal Reserve System as one of the most important financial steps ever undertaken by the United States. They believe that, over the course of years, these institutions will have a profound influence upon the soundness, liquidity and stability of home mortgages, to the benefit of home owner, lending institution and the investing public.

Then, of course, there are interests which see no good in the measure at all, some of them selfish, as mortgage brokers, some of them sincerely convinced present machinery for residential financing is adequate and that the new act will merely set up another expensive bureaucracy.

Something can be said for all these points of view, but the first and the last seem the least convincing. If probably is true, as the Department of Commerce and the National Association of Real Estate Boards concur in finding, that lack of new home construction for the past two or three years has resulted in doubling up "huddling," the President called it and has created a reservoir of unsatisfied demand for houses. But it does seem optimistic to suppose that merely to provide a place where the original mortgage (when found) can be redeemed, his loan will release a third to a half billion dollars' worth of this demand.

Certainly the first job of the new banks will be to start thawing out the present situation. From eight to 12 banks are to be set up, with initial capital of $125,000,000 supplied by the Treasury. Building and loan societies, co-operative banks, homestead associations, insurance companies, savings banks may become members by subscribing 1 per cent of the unpaid principal of their outstanding home mortgages. Half of such subscriptions is to be paid into the U. S. Treasury, the remainder into Treasury stock will be retired.

Loans cannot be made upon property with a value of more than $20,000. Savings and loan associations customarily will lend up to 75 per cent or 80 per cent of full value upon an amortized loan basis. That would make the maximum mortgage eligible for rediscout $16,000. The 60 per cent provision would give $9,600 in rediscout, but that is more than 40 per cent of the value of the property. So $9,600 on a $20,000 piece of property is the biggest single

Members may rediscout their home mortgage with the Home Loan Banks—up to 60 per cent of the unpaid principal of amortized mortgages, but not more than 40 per cent of the value of the property; when the mortgage is not of the amortized type, up to 50 per cent of the unpaid balance but not over 30 per cent of the value of the property.

The Home Loan Banks are empowered for the present to make loans direct to home owners who cannot get mortgage money elsewhere, but this provision expires as soon as Treasury stock has been retired.

Against the rediscout mortgages, the Home Loan Banks will issue consolidated bonds or debentures, to bear 5 1/2 per cent interest. Issues floated after seven years will bear not to exceed 5 per cent.

There are stringent regulations against over-appraisal of property, which is made a criminal offense. The board which will govern the banks, and the individual institutions have broad authority to examine member institutions, make studies of trends of real estate values in any region, methods of appraisal, and general practices in the home mortgage field. This provision, in the long run, may prove to be the most important part of the act. It seems not too visionary to foresee the day when every lender upon first mortgage will wish to be sure his mortgage is rediscoutable. Just "in case," and therefore will live up to the mortgage bank's standards. The long-term trend, also, should be toward lower interest rates on home first mortgages, for bonds of the central banks are likely to become favorite investments for large investors, trust funds and commercial banks.

Most observers are in agreement upon much of all this; any difference of opinion comes down to an argument as to whether the banks can sell their bonds in any such market as exists today. Admittedly the original capital stock of $125,000,000 will be a small teakettle full of hot water to pour upon the iceberg of frozen home loans. Residential mortgages outstanding are estimated at 15 billions.

Securities issued by the banks must bear upon their face the statement that the bonds are in no sense an obligation of the Federal Government. However, the Treasury's subscription of $125,000,000, and 100 per cent face value of mortgages will be behind the securities, which, moreover, are tax exempt. It would seem not too hopeless a task to market them. Upon the success of this must depend any immediate effect in checking present foreclosures.

A GIFT FROM MISSOURI.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

Missouri sends a riding horse to Gov. Roosevelt, possibly fearing that he will take to riding some new hobby. Considering the hard plowing before him, a Missouri mule might have been more useful.

THAT EXPLAINS IT.

Coolidge's Outworn Creed

Dan Williams in the New York World-Telegram.

CALVIN COOLIDGE demonstrates in an article in Collier's how, as President, he contributed so manfully to the present unpleasantness. Economically speaking, Mr. Coolidge seems to be one of those prophets who still believe the earth is flat, and who, strangely, are right just now.

A key to the spirit of his thoughts can be found in the following random quotations:

"If there is anything to criticize about the property rights of this country, it does not seem that it can be claimed that they have been too exclusive. Whatever advantages they carry have been open to all the people."

"In general the (banking) business has been well conducted. If there have been abuses and failures (There have been 10,000 failures in the last few years), the losses to depositors have been surprisingly small."

"There is no purpose to protect a person because he is rich or powerful. The whole idea is to protect the poor and the weak."

All this, carefully built upon a reverent devotion to traditions of the old-time era of American expansion, serves to lead Mr. Coolidge to a denunciation of the taxation of wealth and the proposal of a government supported in the main by direct sales taxes on many commodities imposed on the masses of the people. Truth here is interwoven in a dangerous way with what may be innocent traditionalism, but which has the effect of outright humbuggery.

Mr. Coolidge says, with much truth: "Power and responsibility cannot be separated, politically or economically. If we delegate the paying of our taxes we shall find that we have delegated the control of our Government."

There can be little doubt that if every man paid his taxes directly and in explicit form, he would have a keener interest in how government spends the money than now, when he thinks the rich are getting soaked for his benefit.

Yet there can also be little doubt that governments, national, state and local, have been better able to launch the great social services because of this deception. This is all a part of the great boom spirit of expansion—the sowing toward the present collapse.

This holds true of the vast accumulation of the nation's wealth in a few hands, which Mr. Coolidge glorifies as convenient and useful. Eleven million men hunt work, having as their share, under a government whose "whole idea is to protect the poor and the weak," mainly the rats that are on their backs, yet Mr. Coolidge sits at Northampton, preaching an antiquated philosophy.

That some of his traditionalism is profound and honest like his Vermont roots does not mean that the rest of it is not as great a peril and nuisance as these same rats when they crop up in the field from which people try to gain their sustenance.

Mr. Coolidge ought to be able to see, as he sees the march of the 11,000,000 workless, that somehow or other property rights have not been protected—that land and homes have gone from the hands of the masses in the same way that jobs have passed from the grip of these 11,000,000. He ought to be able to see that the accumulations of stupendous property holdings are now working to the peril even of those who own them.

By the Associated Press.

LA JOLLA, Cal., Aug. 3.—Miss Ellen Browning Scripps, 95 years old, philanthropist and sister of the late E. W. Scripps, founder of a newspaper chain, died at her home here early today. Death was due to old age and a lung congestion which developed recently. At her bedside was her nephew, Robert Scripps, who came here from New York.

Miss Scripps was born in London, Oct. 19, 1836, the daughter of James Megg Scripps, a bookbinder. She was one of 13 children. The family came to America, settling on a farm near Rushville, Ill. Miss Scripps was graduated from Knox College at Galesburg, Ill., in 1859.

In 1873 she invested her savings, accumulated as a school teacher, in a newspaper founded in Detroit by another brother, James E. Scripps. She served as the first proofreader on the newspaper, and also as a reporter. Later, her brother, E. W. Scripps, founded other newspapers and by investing in them, Miss Scripps amassed a fortune of several millions of dollars. Miss Scripps came to California in 1891 and six years later made her home here.

Bequests she made to various institutions during her life time amounted to more than $2,000,000. Miss Scripps converted the farm at Rushville where she lived in her early days into the Scripps Memorial Park and several years ago erected a community house on the site of her former farm home.

She was interested actively in city and national newspapers at the time of her death, holding a large amount of stock in more than a score of papers.

Motion Picture Actress Is Bride of English Etcher; Marriage Announced by Her Mother.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Dorothy Cummings Dakin, who played the motion picture, "King of Kings," and Duncan Alon McNab, English etcher, are on the way to Europe on their honeymoon, following their marriage here last Wednesday.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Victor Cummings of New York and Southampton, L. I., announced the marriage yesterday.

Mrs. Dakin and Frank Elliott Dakin, actor and stage director, were divorced in Los Angeles in December, 1927. The divorce was opposed by Cecil B. De Mille, producer of the "King of Kings," it was reported, because he was said to have stipulated in contracts of performers in the picture that they not obtain divorces or remarriage for seven years.

McNab is the son of Mrs. Duncan Knox McNab of London, England, and the late Capt. McNab, British naval officer, who was killed in the World War. Some of his etchings hang in the British Museum and in the Luxembourg Gallery in Paris, and others are included in the private collections of the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of Sweden.

SHOW BOAT TO GIVE BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

Monday Night's Proceeds to Go to Service Bureau, Junior League Affiliate.

A SHOW boat, The Hollywood, one of the few floating theaters still plying the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, will donate its services next Monday night for a benefit play, the proceeds of which will go to the Service Bureau, affiliated with the St. Louis Junior League. The boat is moored at Musick's Ferry, at the end of Hill's Ferry road, where the performance is scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The play, chosen from a repertory of 50 melodramas popular since the early days of show boats in 1880, is "The Lure of the City," with a cast of 12 or 13 men and women, each of whom is frequently called on to do double duty as the leading man, the villain or the ingenue.

The boat is one of the five survivors of a fleet which for many years provided the sole theatrical entertainment for planters and people living along the banks of the river. It has seats for more than 500 persons and in addition there are two small boxes, each seating no more than three. A miniature orchestra pit curves under a small stage, back of which are living quarters for the players. Overhead is the steam calliope, which heralds each performance and which was taken from the boat to be used in making the motion picture, "Show Boat," adapted from Edna Ferber's book by the same name.

Numerous theater parties are being planned for Monday night's performance by members of the board of directors of the Service Bureau and their friends. Tickets may be purchased at the Bureau, 302 North Euclid avenue.

Mrs. Blaisdel Shapleigh is president of the board; Miss Georgia Elliot is vice president; Mrs. M. Hayward Post, secretary; Mrs. Charles E. Bascom, Mrs. Marion Clifford Blossom, Willard W. Boyd, Mrs. Leo de Smet Carlton, Mrs. George Kimball Conant, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, Mrs. O. P. J. Falk, Mrs. Thomas Francis, Mrs. John A. Haskell, Mrs. Robert A. Holland, Mrs. John H. Jones, Mrs. K. M. McLaughlin, Mrs. Harry H. Linsenger, Mrs. Eugene Pettus, Mrs. E. Lansing Ray, Mrs. Charles M. Rice, Mrs. Ernest W. Stix, Mrs. Maymie Rogers, Mrs. Eugene F. Williams Jr., Mrs. Robert B. Wallace, Mrs. Elizer G. Burkham and Mrs. Edward Limberg.

The patronesses for Monday night's performance are Mrs. Edward A. Faust, Mrs. Thomas M. Pierce, Mrs. J. Dwight Dana, Mrs. Wallace D. Simmons, Mrs. Henry T. Ferriss, Mrs. George M. von Schrader, Mrs. William G. Pettus, Mrs. W. Julius Polk, Mrs. C. Norman Jones, Mrs. Charles H. Morrill, Mrs. Dalton K. Rose, Mrs. James M. Francis, Mrs. Donaldson L. Lambert, Mrs. Floyd Augustine, Mrs. Talton T. Francis, Mrs. Thomas K. McLaughlin Jr. and Mrs. William Geoffrey Kimball.

The Service Bureau is maintained mainly by Junior League members, and fills a need for assistance to hostesses at every sort of social function.

RAILROAD FEATURE

UPTURN IN BONDS

The market apparently took its cue from the upturn in stocks.

The carriers were among the first to recover after showing losses of around a point or more at one time.

International Telephone debenture 5s led the utilities in the advance, although American Telephone & Telegraph, Power and Light bonds, and the New York Central and Pennsylvania, New York Central and Erie Railroad, Missouri Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Illinois Central, and St. Louis & North Western, were quiet.

German Government loans were under some pressure for a while, but they rallied moderately and cut down their losses to around a point. Italian 7s were strong, as were Colombian 6s, Japanese, and

BIG JUMP IN SOVIET NEWSPAPER READING

This Is One Phase of Russia's Successful Fight on Illiteracy.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Newspaper circulation increased from 2,700,000 in 1913 to 35,000,000 in 1931 in Soviet Russia, Joseph Freeman calculates, in his book, "The Soviet Worker."

This increase represents one aspect of Russia's attempt to eradicate illiteracy, the effect of which has been to increase the number of literates from 33 per cent in 1916 to 75 per cent in 1931.

There were 5500 newspapers of general circulation published in 1931, as compared to 605 on recent a date as 1928, Freeman says.

In Soviet Russia proper newspapers are published in 41 languages; in the Ukraine in seven languages; White Russia, five; Transcaucasia, eight, and in Uzbekistan and Turkmenistan, in three different languages each.

Many Specialized Papers.

"In addition to the newspapers of general circulation," Freeman says, "there is an extensive press published by the trade unions, the co-operatives, the army, the collective farms and by various factories and shops. By 1925 the trade unions published 22 newspapers, of which six were dailies, and 33 magazines."

"Apart from the regular trade union publications, there are in the Soviet Union thousands of 'wall newspapers' posted in the enterprises. Workers and peasants contribute to these wall newspapers articles dealing with their living and working conditions."

"By 1931 there were throughout the country 1600 factory newspapers, with a circulation of about 2,000,000; 1200 provincial newspapers, 250,000 wall newspapers and about 600 state and collective farm newspapers."

Not only has newspaper circulation increased, but book publishing has leaped ahead. In 1914, 120,000,000 copies of books were published; in 1931, a total of 800,000,000.

During 1929 the Soviet published over 40,000 different titles, an increase of 600 per cent over 1920. This is compared with Germany, which in 1929 published 27,000 titles; Great Britain, which published 14,000, and the United States with 10,000.

"Mass Book" Is Big Item.

The largest item in publishing is the so-called "mass book," which constitutes about 75 per cent of the books published. It includes books, booklets and pamphlets on social, political and other subjects which are generally of an informative and instructive nature.

During the first half of 1930 the state publishing house published more than 100 books explaining the five-year plan, of which 15,000,000 copies were distributed. To make books accessible to the workers, many editions are sold at about 25 cents each.

Similarly, in the movies there has been great expansion. There are now some 9600 movie centers. Throughout the Soviet Union there were in 1930 some 500,000 musical and theatrical performances, chiefly for workers and peasants, and a majority of them were presented by amateurs.

In 1931 there were almost 1,500,000 radio receiving stations in the Soviet, and 55 broadcasting stations. Radio programs are transmitted in about 50 languages.

Robert Jackson, Bureau Chairman, Announces Garner Will Make Extensive Tour.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee today announced the appointment of Robert Jackson of Concord, N. H., as chairman of the speakers' bureau for the presidential campaign of Gov. Roosevelt. Jackson, who is secretary of the National Committee, will make his headquarters in New York at the Biltmore Hotel.

Jackson announced that George Combs, formerly a Missouri Congressman, now living in New York, would be vice chairman of the bureau. He said the speaker most in demand was Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion.

It was stated at Democratic headquarters that Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic candidate for vice president, would take an active part in the campaign, speaking in all parts of the United States, including the East.

NEW NATIONAL BANK CURRENCY

Issue of $1,556,420 First Glass-Borah Rider.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Issuance of $1,556,420 in national bank currency—the first under the Glass-Borah rider to the home loan bank bill—was reported today by the Treasury in its statement for Aug. 3.

On July 30 the outstanding national bank notes amounted to $738,977,423, while on Aug. 1 it had increased to $735,431,545. This is the first change of any consequence in the amount of outstanding national bank currency in many months.

It has remained stationary around $734,000,000, with only slight shifts one way or the other due to currency in the Treasury in process of redemption.

CHAPTER NINE.

AMBOUYNE stifled a shriek. It had come! The footsteps ceased. There was no distinguishable cry. She was thankful for that, but there was a faint, dull splash. Something had gone overboard. She stared out, with fixed, set gaze. The mountainous waves rose and fell, the great black chasms between, grave enough for a hundred men. The booming wind caught their breaking tops and deluged the deck with spray. She cast one last terrified glance downward into the somber magnificence below. It was the graveyard of millions—and of Reuben Argels!

With the passing of the crisis she grew calmer. There had been no instant alarm, so she judged that it would be morning before the news spread. There was nothing to do now but wait. She had sent her maid to bed and a ghostly silence seemed to reign in the little suite. She passed into her bedroom with some vague idea of undressing.

On her way, she looked into the mirror, and experienced a moment of real, nervous terror at the sight of her own drawn face and staring eyes. What a fool she was to meddle with life like this, she told herself angrily. In a year or two, long before she had reached the zenith of her beauty and her career, she would have lost her looks. It should be her mission to play with life—other people's lives—to keep her own safe. This, she swore, should be the end of it. She had failed in her appointed task with regard to Moran's enemy, but she had at least given him revenge, the final and immutable revenge of death. She would be thankful always for tonight. It had brought her back to life, and she was now, in the midst of a pitched battle, it had brought her victory over that terribly nervous and voluptuous side of herself—the side she trusted least. Above all things, she reminded herself, she had won her freedom. All that she needed now was time to remove from her mind the poisonous memory of that man's presence. She asked herself, in those few seconds, with a naive sensation of absolutely sincere wonder, how she had ever allowed any human being, especially a cynical and almost flamboyant voluptuary, to fill her with such deadly fear. . . .

In time she turned away from the mirror. Even though sleep might not be possible, she decided to undress and lie down. Then, when actually crossing the threshold to her room, the sound, in her nervous state, filling her with acute fear, she heard the tread of a footstep in the passage. She turned slowly. She saw something that still more terrified her—the gradual turning of the handle of the door of the salon. Very deliberately, she saw the door itself pushed open. Flank and paralytic horror seized her. She saw Reuben Argels, who had entered behind him, without waiting for her permission, had helped himself to a drink from the sideboard.

She opened her eyes to a world which seemed filled with horrors. Reuben Argels had entered the room, closing the door behind him, without waiting for her permission, had helped himself to a drink from the sideboard.

"Forgive me for startling you," he begged, his eyes fixed upon hers. "I had an idea. A quarter past 12, we said, I think."

She made no immediate effort at speech. Struggling for self-control, she glanced at the clock upon the mantel. It was only 17 minutes past 12. The period of time which had passed since she had heard that faint splash in the sea had been a matter of minutes, not hours. Reuben Argels was alive. There was something fierce and turbulent in her blood, the sting of which was bringing her swiftly back to life. The man whose death she had planned was alive, and, for those few seconds, at any rate, relief and disappointment were inextricably mixed.

"I told you that you could look in for a minute after the others had gone," she said at last, "but I expected you to knock at the door."

"I am sorry," he apologized, looking around with a peculiar smile. "The absence of your servants, and your own retirement, made me fear that you had forgotten."

"My memory is not quite so bad as that," she assured him, with an uneasy laugh. "I even remember the subject of our proposed discussion. I have considered it and I have made up my mind. I have decided not to go to London. From Marseilles I shall go to Trieste, and from there to Hungary. Now that you understand that, I imagine that what you had to say to me is of little importance."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that it is a foolish decision. You will change it."

"At your bidding?" she mocked him.

"In reply to my prayer," he amended, "and for the sake of your own happiness. Believe me, although you are capable of such fanatical impulses, you are not a heartless woman. You would have had moments of bitter regret if you had been forced to picture me drifting a few fathoms down in the Atlantic with a knife in my heart."

She accepted the challenge and threw all pretense away.

"What happened to Frank?" she asked.

"So that was Frank, was it?" he reflected. "Somehow, I thought it might have been. His work was so near the first time he scratched me. I wonder who told him to be in earnest this time and to strike home?"

"I did," she answered defiantly. "Why?"

"I love Moran Chambers and you have robbed me of him. You betrayed him. You deserve to die."

"One more reason," he suggested. "What other reason could there have been?"

"You are afraid of me," she laughed, melodiously but unconvincingly.

"Why should I be afraid of you?" she scoffed. "If we were alone on a desert island, perhaps, but here—"

"The worst of you people on the stage and in filmland," he meditated, "is that you are continually visualizing life from an artificial point of view. Conditions are precisely the same here as they would be on Robinson Crusoe Island. In fact, here, only woman in life who counts for anything to me, because I made up my mind a long time ago that I would take you from Moran Chambers—as I have taken his liberty."

"I shall have to ask Mr. Ludo whether he will open for me as an actor of your play," he remarked scornfully. "You bring the film world back to me most convincingly."

He drew an easy chair a little nearer to what she called down. She watched his fingertips while he selected a cigarette. They were blunt and his nails were highly polished. Even from where she sat she could catch a breath of the mingled odor of highly scented soap and tobacco.

"You are a brave woman," he acknowledged. "You are fighting for what you think is your preservation and you are fighting bravely. You even went so far as to hire an assassin to murder me. I'm quite sure Moran never told him to go to such extremes."

"What did you do with him, by-the-by?" she inquired.

"I was a little quicker than he and a very great deal stronger," he recounted. "Naturally, after my first experience, I am always on the watch at that corner, and dark though it was, I sensed his coming. I dodged the blow, broke his wrist and threw the knife overboard. Then I picked him up and threw him after it."

She looked at him unbelievably. He smiled and stretched out his arms. She noticed then their extreme length. They reminded her, somehow, of the great, clinging arms of a gorilla, and she shivered.

"I am very strong," he confessed. "It was as easy for me as throwing a cigarette end overboard."

"There was any alarm?" she asked.

A SENSE of her helplessness returned. She hated his proximity, hated the glow in his eyes as he leaned toward her. She glanced at the clock.

Marital Troubles Of the Kahn Boys

One Is a Dignified Disciple of His Wealthy Father, the Other Is a Saxophone Tooter, But They Both Failed at Marriage.

GILBERT KAHN... his marriage failed after 8 years.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.

THE two sons of Otto H. Kahn, patrons of arts, international financiers and millionaires, were allowed to follow their own inclinations in the choosing of both careers and wives. Gilbert, the eldest, became a banker like his father, and married into his own social set. Roger Wolff, the younger, became a jazz musician and married a show girl. One would expect, under those circumstances, that both would be free of troubles, and so they apparently have, so far as careers are concerned. However, despite the great difference in their marital ventures, both have had domestic upsets within a month of each other.

The cause of the breaks of both sons with their wives have not been divulged, but that the breaks were definite and unquestionable became known in a very explicit manner. First Roger inserted a paid advertisement in a New York paper announcing to the world that thereafter he would not be responsible for any obligations incurred by his wife, and then Gilbert issued a similar notice in a similar manner.

Gilbert Kahn had been married eight years before his domestic trouble came to an open break. Roger only one and one-half years. Gilbert, who is now 29 years old, was married in 1924 to Miss Anne Elizabeth Whelan, whose father, Charles A. Whelan, heads a national chain of cigar stores.

The marriage was entirely conventional in keeping with the Kahn social position. The engagement was announced at a bridge luncheon with Miss Whelan's mother as hostess, and the wedding took place at a fashionable New York hotel, with a wedding cake seven feet high shared by guests who made up a large portion of the Social Register.

THE only thing about the match approaching the unconventional was their domestic establishment. Instead of living in accordance with the elder Kahn's means, Gilbert and his bride announced they would live within their own means, and took a small and inexpensive apartment. Gilbert was pointed out, "I do not receive visitors at such an hour. I have listened to what you have to say. I have given you my answer. I beg that you will go."

"I am not satisfied with your answer," he expostulated. "It would take me my life very much if you did not come to London."

"Why should you imagine that I care whether I disturb it or not?" she laughed. "Have I not just tried to end it?"

"An impulse of self-preservation," he remarked with a answering smile. "If you had succeeded, you would have been broken-hearted."

He had risen to his feet. She watched his fingers approach, and he reached for a cigarette. They were blunt and his nails were highly polished. Even from where she sat she could catch a breath of the mingled odor of highly scented soap and tobacco.

"You are a brave woman," he acknowledged. "You are fighting for what you think is your preservation and you are fighting bravely. You even went so far as to hire an assassin to murder me. I'm quite sure Moran never told him to go to such extremes."

"What did you do with him, by-the-by?" she inquired.

"I was a little quicker than he and a very great deal stronger," he recounted. "Naturally, after my first experience, I am always on the watch at that corner, and dark though it was, I sensed his coming. I dodged the blow, broke his wrist and threw the knife overboard. Then I picked him up and threw him after it."

She looked at him unbelievably. He smiled and stretched out his arms. She noticed then their extreme length. They reminded her, somehow, of the great, clinging arms of a gorilla, and she shivered.

"I am very strong," he confessed. "It was as easy for me as throwing a cigarette end overboard."

"There was any alarm?" she asked.

"None whatever," he assured her. "It happens to be, as you know, the most remote corner of the ship, and there is a pretty heavy sea running."

not, at that time, very far along in his financial career.

He had graduated from Princeton University, and then entered the banking business. Instead of taking advantage of his father's position to obtain a sinecure, he began in a small way with a job as clerk for a national trust company.

He worked his way up, and in 1930 was made a partner of the firm of Kahn, Loeb & Co.

Everything seemed to be going well for him, and the "Gilbert Kahn, who have a three-year-old daughter, appeared to be having a very happy time of it, until the newspaper notice.

The marriage and career of Roger was not nearly so conventional. In fact, both contained a decided element of romance.

First, Roger, now 24 years old, did not follow in his father's footsteps. He apparently inherited the musical tastes of his father, where Gilbert inherited the financial interests, and so early displayed an interest in music. Not, however, grand opera such as appealed to Otto H. Kahn, but jazz. He took up the saxophone, and when only 17 organized his own orchestra.

There was considerable parental opposition at first. The opening appearance of the orchestra was scheduled for a New York restaurant with a cabaret program by eight young ladies who were not there were society and stage celebrities on hand for the opening night, with a $25 cover charge. The opening was delayed, at first, because on the scheduled night a fume blew out and the goldfish under the tables were not properly lighted.

The orchestra was led by Roger, who also had charge of hiring the entertainers for his cabaret. One whom he employed early in his night club venture was Hannah Williams, a pretty, slender, Auburn-haired special entertainer, and Roger and Hannah became good friends.

However, there was no romance yet. They were simply two young folks in the show business, with no outside connections. Hannah's father was a chauffeur, and her mother worked as a theater usher in a small Pennsylvania mining town. Shortly after Roger went to Europe Hannah went to Chicago to find work, and the elder Kahn is having his own worries, besides those of his sons. Last year Mrs. Lydia Lindgren, a Swedish singer, sued him for $500,000, charging he had failed to keep his word in financial agreements he had made with her. She alleged that in 1928 Kahn had established a $150,000 trust fund for her benefit, and had failed to keep his agreement to replenish it. She asked $150,000 on that ground. She asked an additional $250,000 which she said represented an income of $3000 annually for 10 years provided for her in Kahn's will, and which she felt she should have. The remainder she asked as compensation for setting a slander suit against Mrs. Julia Claussen, opera star, at Kahn's request.

The case was dismissed for lack of evidence when it came to trial, but since then a new trial has been ordered.

ROGER WOLFF KAHN... preferred saxophones to banking.

there she married Charles Kaley, who also was an orchestra leader, but not a millionaire's son.

Roger returned from Europe, went back to his orchestra leading, and gave signs of more than a passing interest in Virginia Frank, a Broadway dancer. There were even rumors that they would marry, but the affair passed over, and Roger took up aviation.

ABOUT that time, 1927, Hannah's first marriage ended in an annulment, and Hannah and her sister toured in vaudeville in a sister act. Later Hannah obtained a part in the musical comedy, "Sweet and Low," and became famous as the singer of "Cheerful Little Ballerina," a song that became popular with stage and radio audiences. It was while in "Sweet and Low" that she and Roger renewed their friendship.
